Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

We are glad to have the weekly Report from Washington by Congressman Selden continue to come to us. The present session of Congress is of great importance to our country. Our readers are fortunate to have the first-hand summary of its activities brought to you by a man on the scene and taking part in the proceedings. Read this column each week and you will be correctly informed about what is going on in the nation's law-making body.—Editor

During the first session of the 83rd Congress, this column was carried each week in the newspapers of the Sixth District. The response I have received from every corner of the District has been most gratifying. As the second session of the 83rd Congress convenes this week, I am resuming this means of reporting to you.

With the exception of a period of about two weeks when I was on committee business, I have spent the past five months in the Sixth District. My office in Tuscaloosa has been open six days a week since August, and I had visits from hundreds of my constituents during that period. At the same time, I traveled more than 16,000 miles in visiting throughout the District, and I talked with hundreds of people from each of the eight counties. Yet I realize, and I am sure you do also, the physical impossibility of seeing each of you. For that reason, I would like to re-emphasize my desire to represent well the people of our District, and to again urge each of you to write me your views on any issues that the members of Congress may be confronted with during the session now underway.

Outlook for 1954

The First session of the 83rd Congress postponed final decisions on many matters, pending further study. This leaves a heavy agenda facing the present session. Among the major issues which will probably confront the House and Senate are taxes, the new budget, farm price supports, foreign trade, revision of the Taft-Hartley labor law, Social Security, the defense program and foreign aid.

In addition, there are the questions of statehood for Hawaii, Congressional probes, further governmental reorganization, public power policies and countless other matters which may come before Congress this year.

Party Line-Ups

As for the party line-up during the 1954 session, the Republicans will continue to control both the House and Senate. But the narrow majority they held during the last session has become even smaller in the past few months, due to resignations and deaths which were followed by special elections. In the House the Republicans now hold 219 seats; the Democrats have 215 seats; and there is one Independent member. The Republicans hold only one seat more than the number necessary for the slimmest possible majority in the House.

In the Senate, the Republicans now hold nominal control, but the Democrats have a one-vote edge. A breakdown of the membership shows that 47 seats are held by Republicans, 48 by Democrats, and one seat is held by an Independent. Until the death of Senator Robert A. Taft last July, Republicans held numerical control of the Senate by one vote. Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio appointed a Democrat, Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland, to fill the vacancy caused by Sen. Taft's death. Both Lausche and Burke made it plain, however, that the appointment was not calculated to upset GOP control of the Senate, and Burke has already stated publicly that he will vote to continue Republican control if the issue comes up. Sen. Wayne Morse, Independent of Oregon, has also stated publicly that he will vote with the Repubicans, whom he deserted in 1952, to organize the Senate. Then, too, the Republicans have the vote of Vice President Nixon in reserve in case of a tie to insure continued GOP control of the Senate. Yet the majority of the Republicans in the Senate is so thin that deaths or resignations could easily cause a shift.

Because of the slim Congressional majority of the party in power in both Houses, this session of Congress will undoubtedly be an interesting one to observe.

Work Is Started On Water Plant Improvement

Work was started this week on the expansion and rebuilding of Montevallo's water works filter plant and pumping station.

This program is designed to make the plant capable of doubling its capacity to furnish water to local domestic customers, at the same time extending commercial service to the new Westinghouse plant.

The extension of the water main to Westinghouse was completed last summer.

A new storage tank between town and Westinghouse is to be built in connection with the present work of expanding the water system.

Mr. George Nix and family drove their father, Mr. Bliss Nix, and uncle, Mr. Ed Nix, and wife from Houston, Texas, to their old home at Beulah to visit with Mr. Thornton Chambers and family. This was Mr. Ed Nix's first visit there since he left 53 years ago.

Miss Laura Nolen Died Monday

Miss Laura Nolen, 88 daughter of a pioneer couple, died at her home at 8:42 a.m. Monday, Jan. 4, after a long illness, having been confined to her bed for more than a year.

The second oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Nolen, she was born in Montevallo. Her father, a cobbler, owned one of the two stores here at that time. He not only repaired but built hand made shoes.

Before the family bought and moved to their farm home near Wilton some 70 years ago "Miss Laura" attended Montevallo public school. In late years she often reminisced about one of her favorite teachers, Miss Fannie McMath. Later, she graduated from the Brierfield Normal College.

Although she attended the Wilton Baptist Church, she never moved her membership from Montevallo, where she had joined in her youth.

Funeral services were held at Wilton Baptist Church Tuesday, Jan. 5, at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Thompson officiating. Burial was in Montevallo Cemetery with Walton-Bolton directing.

She is survived by one brother, Charlie Nolen; four neices, Mrs. Ella Mae Rushing, Mrs. Alice Conway, Mrs. Martha Lindbloom, Mrs. Louise Young; one nephew, Pat Nolen; four great nephews, two great neices and one great-great nephew.

We Have A Murderer On Our Street

I've always been so proud of my street! It's been full of laughing children playing with their pets—They're not laughing now—because all of a sudden—murder struck! Two of our playmates—no fault of their own—by someone—not brave enough to come by day—but after dark—poisoned them by strychnine!

Why? Has the murderer ever taken it? Does he know how it feels? It's deadly and it paralizes the heart and nerves of its victims and leaves children and their parents heartbroken!

Have you ever had a dog's undying devotion, asking nothing but your love in return?

You, The Murderer, have you ever loved a living thing and had it look to you, and you only, for help and there was nothing you knew or how to do to help it?

A pet who asks no questions except to be loved—surely deserves no such fate—How can you answer that?

If You, The Murderer, read my plea,—surely nothing like this will happen on My Street or any other street in our lovely town again. Pineview Road.—Louise Carson.

At the Blue-Gray football game we noted a number of spectators who carried portable radios to game and tuned in for the broadcast. Just think, before too many years, sports followers will probably be able to carry portable TV sets to football games and watch the contest on the field and on television at the same time.

YOUR FARM PROBLEM

By Ezra Taft Benson
Secretary of Agriculture

Any effective solution of today's farm problem must provide methods for reducing our huge stockpile of agricultural commodities and at the same time prevent further burdensome accumulations.

Getting rid of these surpluses is only half of our problem. Even if we are able to bring them down to manageable proportions, we would soon acquire new hoards of wheat, corn, cotton and butter under the existing system of price supports.

We already have approximately $2.5 billions tied up in loans on farm commodities, in addition to an equal amount invested in goods which we own outright—$5 billions in all.

Our present program does not encourage the production shifts which are required to meet the changing market demands for various commodities.

Of course, we could destroy some of our surpluses. Remember the government's potato fiasco of a few years ago?

Or we might plow under every third row of cotton and kill little pigs. Remember the mid-1930's?

Actually, we would not even consider such wasteful practices.

We are attempting to move surplus food and fiber into foreign markets. World prices, however, are below the figures at which we acquired these commodities under our price support operations. This means that we will be forced to take substantial losses on whatever we sell abroad.

At the same time, we must avoid outright dumping, which would disrupt normal trade channels and bring down upon us the wrath of other friendly countries.

There are these other alternatives: We can make a real effort to move surpluses out of warehouses and into stomachs by promoting greater public consumption of some commodities. We can push forward in our research programs to uncover new uses for farm goods. We can throw our entire weight behind plans for expanding present foreign markets and finding new outlets overseas.

Such methods, while they will not produce results as quickly as dumping or destroying food, offer a far sounder approach to our basic problems.

Along those lines, I can report that our promotional campaign, undertaken with the meat industry and food stores, is producing real results. We are consuming beef this year at the rate of 75 pounds per person, the highest in our history.

Farm exports have turned upward since July 1, reflecting our emphasis upon expanding trade. Continued high employment at home, with national income at record levels, means a strong demand for farm goods in the United States.

Our population is growing at a rate of more than 2,000,000 per year, which means that by 1975 there will be 200,000,000 Americans. Our future farm problems may involve questions of shortages rather than surpluses.

We cannot wait for an expanding population to solve our immediate troubles, however. We need an interim program to encourage shifts to other crops. We must halt further build-ups of government stockpiles now.

Our urgent need is for a price support program which can be adjusted in terms of production and demand. One which will effectively reduce surpluses, with a minimum of government controls.

That is our immediate goal. Such a program will be offered to Congress by this Administration in January.

Good time to look both ways!

Along about now Southern Bell folks like to look back at the year's record of telephone growth, and ahead toward our job of providing more and better service for Alabama.

1953

More than 25,000 new telephones were added, making a total of about 454,000 in the state. Large amounts of cable, central office and other equipment were provided.

1954

Wherever you look, Alabama is moving ahead. This means another year of heavy demands for telephone service.

To get investors to supply the money to continue expanding and improving telephone service requires a fair profit on the money already invested in telephone equipment.

In addition to "country roads" and "public roads," there were in the early days "pike roads" (toll roads). Prior to the railroad period, Alabama, like other states, went through the turnpike period. Private corporations constructed roads through the densely settled areas, or in anticipation of settlement, and operated them as commercial enterprises, just as our railroads are now operated.

In early Alabama the construction and maintenance of the main thoroughfares was made a public obligation from the outset, and all roads subject to public control were called "public roads." There were thousands of roads, opened and maintained by the efforts of individuals or communities—usually called "country roads"—that intersected and linked together the public roads. Though usually very rough, they made the public roads available to the great mass of people who did not live on them, and in many communities they were the sole means of intercourse.

Look not mournfully to the past—it comes not back again; wisely improve the present—its is thine; go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear, and with a manly heart.—Longfellow.

Christmas Seals Sale Amounts To $1,705.74

Shelby County citizens have responded in wonderful fashion to the sale of Christmas Seals, the proceeds of which will be used to carry on the fight against TB in Shelby County during 1954. A goal of $1454 for Shelby County was fixed by the State organization. The latest report from the Treasurer, Roy Downs, is that $1705.74 has been received and contributions are still being received from people who wish to have a part in this program which is carried on under the direction of Dr. E. F. Sloan, County Health Officer.

Funds from the sale of Christmas Seals together with matching funds provided by the Board of Revenue and Control furnish the sole financial support of the TB control and care program in Shelby County. The continued work of the TB Association is assured for 1954.

Poll Tax and Registration Regulations Explained by Attorney General Garrett

Attorney General Si Garrett today issued the following statement in regard to the payment of poll taxes and registration:

February 1, 1954, is the last day for the payment of poll taxes to entitle a person to vote in any election held during the period February 2, 1954—February 1, 1955 (inclusive).

The only poll taxes required to be paid by that date are the tax of $1.50 which became due on October 1, 1952, and the tax of $1.50 which became due on October 1, 1953.

If a person, not exempt by law from the payment of poll taxes, was over 21 and under 45 years of age on both of those dates, he must have paid the tax which became due on both dates not later than February 1, 1954.

If a person, not exempt by law from the payment of poll taxes, was over 21 and under 45 years of age on one of those dates only, he must have paid the tax due on that date only not later than February 1, 1954.

If a person was 45 years of age or over on October 1, 1952, he does not have to pay poll taxes now or at any future date.

Payment or nonpayment of any poll taxes which became due on October 1, 1951, or earlier, is not material and has no bearing whatsoever.

In addition to the payment of such poll taxes as may be required of him, if any, a person must also be registered as an elector before he is entitled to vote. However, the payment of poll taxes and registration are separate and independent acts. A person may pay poll taxes before registration or he may register before paying poll taxes.

A person who is in doubt as to either his poll tax or registration status should consult the judge of probate of his county, who is the custodian of the permanent poll tax and registration records. If he is required to pay poll tax which became due on either October 1, 1952, or October 1, 1953, or both, the same should be paid to the tax collector of his county on or before February 1, 1954. If he is not on the list of registered electors he should make application for registration to the board or registrars of his county on any date the board is in session.

Cotton Acreage Increase Possible

Alabama's cotton acreage allotments will be increased by nearly 200,000 acres if Congress approves a plan offered by the American Farm Bureau Federation it was stated this week by H. A. Pauly, President of the Shelby County Farm Bureau.

The Farm Bureau plan, previously approved at a conference of representatives of all cotton producing states, calls for an overall hike in the allotments from the 17,910,448 which Secretary of Agriculture Benson decreed under the present law, to 21,374,00 acres.

Walter L. Randolph, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and who presided at the cotton states conference, said the increase would have the full backing of the national organization. The secretary of agriculture also described the fact that the various sections of the cotton belt had reached accord on a plan as "a very encouraging development."

Fire Destroys Home Of Malcolm Miles

Fire struck again! The home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Miles and their three children, near the city limits, was burned to the ground early Saturday evening. Members of the family were in town when the fire was discovered and reported by a passerby. Very little was saved. Our able volunteer fire department was very prompt, as always, but with an inadequate supply of water and hose there was little they could do. Friends and neighbors extend their sympathy to the Miles family.

Shelby County Farm Bureau Seeks Expanded Market For Farm Products

Two movements launched by Alabama farmers to expand markets for their products, thus increasing income and reducing so-called surpluses, are gaining wide acceptance throughout the state, according to H. A. Pauly, President of the Shelby County Farm Bureau.

The most recent effort launched was one to promote the sale of milk through an intensive publicity and advertising campaign and other means designed to improve the diet of the people. This drive, financed by farmers themselves, will be carried on as part of a nationwide movement.

Meanwhile progress toward carrying a statewide "Eat More Beef" campaign into local areas was reported from Montgomery by John A. Garrett, Director of Commodity Services for the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation. In this drive the Farm Bureau has been joined by the Alabama Cattlemen's Association, which already had under way an "Eat More Beef" campaign, as well as representatives of the press association, chain and independent stores, and other groups.

Milk producers, working through the Alabama Farm Bureau Dairy Committee, for several years have been raising funds through a July and January set-aside from their milk checks and contributing to the work of the American Dairy Association in promoting use of dairy products. Under a new plan discussed at a recent meeting in Montgomery, the set-aside would be placed on a monthly basis and the campaign intensified. The committee, headed by A. F. Randall, Seale, emphasized that success of the movement would require the cooperation of distributors who purchase the milk from the producers and who must deduct the contributions authorized by the producers.

Both the milk and meat campaigns will emphasize the need for additional proteins in the diet. Restaurants and other dealers also will be asked to feature meat at prices comparable to that received by the farmer. It is hoped to advertise milk on a state and national basis on a scale similar to that now used to promote other beverages.

For a number of years prior to World War II Jessie served on the kitchen staff of Alabama College under the supervision of Miss Anna Irvin, dietitian. After an automobile accident, resulting in a head injury, he returned to Montevallo and his old job in 1949 and worked intermittently for 2 or 3 years.

Congressman Laurie C. Battle Announces Candidacy For United States Senate Nomination

Definitely declaring his intentions to be a candidate for the U. S. Senate, Congressman Laurie C. Battle, of Birmingham releases the following statement today:

"I, Laurie C. Battle, a life-long loyal Southern Democrat, hereby declare my intentions to qualify at the proper time to run for the U. S. Senate subject to the Democratic primary this spring.

"I will run a clean, hard campaign as I have done in my four previous campaigns for the U. S. Congress.

"This decision was made by me and my immediate family alone, after carefully weighing several thousand requests to run for the Senate. These requests have come from people in every walk of life, in every part of Alabama. Otherwise, I certainly would not give up my present job as Congressman which I will hold until January of next year.

"I enter this campaign with faith and determination and without commitments of any description to anybody except to serve the State of Alabama to the utmost of my capacity at all times.

LAURIE C. BATTLE

"My wholehearted allegiance is to the Democratic party, but I never have and never will be a rubber stamp. I have always fought policies which I believed to be detrimental to America and to our beloved Southland.

"I have no professional political machine, so I hereby request 'Volunteers for Battle' to help me form an amatuer organization on a statewide basis in order to win this election decisively. This I am confident we can do. Please write Congressman Laurie C. Battle's campaign headquarters, Bell Building, Birmingham, Alabama. Your assistance will be deeply appreciated."

Laurie C. Battle, Congressman from Jefferson County for the past seven years (four terms) was elected immediately after coming out of the service. He entered military service as a private and came out as a Major four years later. He spent sixteen months overseas in the Pacific theatre where he received several citations and the Bronze Star.

Gadsden Lawyer Receives Backing of Bar Association for Attorney General

Lee Porter, Gadsden attorney, received the backing of the Etowah County Bar Association at the regular monthly meeting yesterday in his race for State Attorney General.

In the resolution passed by the Association Porter was given the unanimous support of the Etowah Bar.

The resolution praised Porter and pointed out his outstanding legal qualifications and expressed complete confidence in his ability, honesty and integrity.

Porter, a Gadsden lawyer, seeking statewide office for the first time, in a very close race nearly four years ago, polled approximately 48 per cent of the total vote.

Porter was born in Heflin, Cleburne County, November 28, 1914, and was reared in Florence, Lauderdale County. He attended Florence State Teachers College and Auburn, and graduated from the University of Alabama. In January, 1943, he entered the service and was discharged in February, 1946, after the close of the war. In December, 1950, during the Korean conflict, he was recalled to active duty and assigned as an instructor in law at the U. S. Army Intelligence Center, Fort Holabird, Baltimore, Maryland. At the conclusion of his tour of active duty in March of 1952, Porter returned to his law practice in Gadsden. He is at present a practicing attorney and is U. S. Commissioner for the Middle Division of the Northern District of Alabama. He is a past president of the Alabama Junior Bar Association and is active in civic and church work in Gadsden. He is married to the former Martha McConnell of Gadsden and they have three sons.

The Bar Association's Resolution follows:

WHEREAS, the Honorable Lee Porter has announced his intention to seek the high office of Attorney General of the great State of Alabama, and

WHEREAS, the Honorable Lee Porter is an outstanding member of the Etowah County Bar Association, and

WHEREAS, the Etowah County Bar Association as a group, and individually, is well acquainted with the outstanding legal qualifications of the Honorable Lee Porter, and repose full confidence in his legal ability, personal honesty and integrity, and

WHEREAS, the office of the Attorney General is the highest legal office in the State of Alabama and should be filled by a man of exceptional ability, and

WHEREAS, the Honorable Lee Porter is such a man of exceptional legal ability

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the Etowah County Bar Association places itself on record as recommending to the people of the State of Alabama the candidacy of the Honorable Lee Porter for Attorney General of the State of Alabama, and that this resolution be spread on the minutes of the Etowah County Bar Association, and that a copy of this resolution be given to the press for publication.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Congress reconvened last Wednesday and the President delivered his State-of-the-Union message the following day. I am sure many of you either heard or have read the President's speech.

President Eisenhower received a very friendly reception from the Democrats and Republicans alike as he delivered his State-of-the-Union message to members of the House and Senate. The President's speech was a general analysis of the problems facing the United States and the various programs which the Administration will sponsor this year. However, because the speech was more general than specific, many members of Congress are withholding comment until the President has sent down positive details of his program. These will be forthcoming within the next several weeks in a series of special messages to Congress. At the time this column is printed, the first messages in the series will have been received by Congress. They will deal with labor and with the farm program.

Others to Follow

Other special messages are scheduled to follow about a week apart and will be concerned with the Administration's health program, the budget recommendations (which will also deal with taxes), the housing program, and the annual economic report. In addition to the five specific messages already scheduled, the President says he expects to send other recommendations to Congress on such subejcts as foreign aid, Social Security, mutual security treaty with Korea, and general economic preparedness against any business recession or depression.

Cotton Acreage Allotment

Before we adjourned last August the House of Representatives passed legislation setting the 1954 cotton acreage allotment at 22,672,000 acres. The Senate did not act on this legislation before adjournment and the House measure is still pending in that body.

In the meantime, and under existing legislation, the Secretary of Agriculture set the 1954 allotment at 17,910,448 acres which compares with a 1952 cotton acreage of 27,805,730 acres and a 1953 acreage of 25,284,600. This heavy cut in total cotton acreage has been reflected in large acreage cuts to individual producers and has naturally caused concern among the cotton producers of our district and our state.

In talking with cotton farmers throughout the Sixth District, I find the majority are dissatisfied with the method of allocating acreage on a statewide and countywide basis and feel these methods should be revised. Realizing time may be too short to enact any legislation to improve this situation before the 1954 crop has been planted, it has been suggested to me by many that the 1954 acreage be increased with the recommendation that a more equitable allocation method be devised for future years. It has been stressed by almost everyone with whom I have talked, however, that if Congress is to take action at all this year, it should do so as juickly as possible so that any acreage increase will be available before the 1954 crop is planted.

Committee Approves Bill

Evidently the reaction has been the same in all cotton produicng sections, for on the day after we reconvened, the Senate Agricultural Committee approved a bill fixing the 1954 cotton acreage allotment at 21,379,342 acres. This bill is scheduled to reach the Senate this week and will be substituted on the floor of the Senate for the measure passed last year by the House. Should this measure pass the Senate, it will then be sent to the House-Senate conference committee where a final compromise will be reached.

In discussing the Senate measure with reporters, Senator Aiken, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said, "This is a fairly good bill. It won't reduce the cotton surplus any, although it will keep it from getting worse until we have time to enact more permanent legislation."

The Southern members of the House Agriculture Committee with whom I have talked do not feel the Senate bill is as favorable to Southern cotton producers as the bill passed by the House last year. Yet they realize some compromise must be reached.

In any event, the action of the Senate Agriculture Committee indicates to me that this or similar legislation will be enacted in the near future and that the acreage allotment for 1954 will be raised from 17.9 million to approximately 21.5 million acres. If this happens, the outlook for the cotton farmers of our district for 1954 will be improved.

If you want to be successful as a predictor, just be sure and not set any definite dates. Most everything happens sooner or later.

Goodfellow Campaign Goofellow Campaign

Roy Downs, President of the Central State Bank, Calera, and Chief Shelby County Goodfellow, reports that the drive was successful this year and netted a total of $971. This amount, combined with the $1084.15 on hand from previous years, provided a total of $2,055.15 on hand to pay for the gifts which were distributed to 776 children in the county this year, according to Mr. Downs.

The Shelby County Chairman wishes to express his sincere appreciation to all Goodfellows who participated in the program this year.

This newspaper would like to publicly express its admiration and appreciation to Mr. Downs for the splendid manner in which he responded and organized the campaign when the program appeared to be doomed at the last minute due to lack of leadership. In his usual manner, the energetic Roy Downs organized the county and saw the program through to a successful conclusion.

Teachers Attend School of Finance

On Friday and Saturday, January 8 and 9, the Alabama Education Association conducted a school on school finance. Three hundred representatives from 112 school systems and the colleges of Alabama attended the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform local representatives on the operation of the minimum program as it applies to the local school system in the financing of the schools of Alabama. These representatives from the various systems will in turn return to their local areas and conduct a similar school with the teachers.

Attending from Shelby County were Mr. Henry Peete, President, Shelby County Teachers Association. Mr. Charles Knowles, chairman, Finance Committee of the Shelby County Teachers Association. Mr. W. W. Elliott, Superintendent, Shelby County Schools. Dr. M. L. Orr and Miss Laura Hadley of Alabama College. The 300 people assembled for the meeting were divided into 8 groups. Serving as instructors for the 8 groups were Mr. Reece White, Director, Division of Administration and Finance, State Department of Education, Montgomery, Ala. Dr. J. W. Letson, Superintendent, Bessemer City Schools. Dr. E. B. Norten, President, Florence State Teachers College. Dr. C. P. Nelson, Superintendent, Anniston City Schools. Miss Annie Seay Owen, Statistician, State Department of Education. Dr. J. H. Hadley, Superintendent, Tuscaloosa City Schools. Dr. K. A. Johnson, Superintendent, Tuscaloosa County Schools. Mr. W. W. Elliott, Superintendent, Shelby County Schools.

A similar school for local teachers and other interested citizens will be planned for the very near future for this county.

Mrs. T. Bridges and Pick spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Homemade Food Mixes Are Time Savers For Busy Homemakers

Many homemakers find quantity mixes for biscuits, muffins, waffles and other "quick breads" to be time and labor savers. Mixes made at home using milk powder can be especially helpful in putting more milk into family diets since breads often contain less than a cup of milk to each cup of flour. Such mixes are inexpensive for the milk value they give.

Here are some recipes for mixes that can be made and stored for use in a jiffy.

Biscuit Mix. Ingredients: 8 cups sifted flour; 1 cup dry milk, whole or nonfat; one-fourth cup baking powder; 3 teaspoons salt; 1 cup fat—a kind that needs no refrigeration. Method: Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cut in fat until thoroughly mixed. Store mix in glass jars or tin cans without packing. Close tightly and store on shelf.

One cup of this mix is enough for 6 medium size biscuits. Recipe: measure 1 cup of mix; add one-third cup milk or enough to make a soft dough; turn onto a lightly floured board and knead a few times; pat or roll to desired thickness; cut out with a floured cutter; bake in a hot oven 450 degrees F. 12-15 minutes.

Recipe for quantity mix for muffins, griddle cakes and waffles. 6 cups sifted flour; 1 cup dry milk; one-fourth cup baking powder; 2 teaspoons salt; one-half cup sugar; three-fourths cup fat—a kind that needs no refrigeration. (For extra value double the measure of dry milk.)

To make: Sift dry ingredients together three times; cut in fat until thoroughly mixed; store mix in glass jars or tin cans without packing. Close tightly and store on shelf.

For muffins. To 1 cup of mix, add one-third cup water or fluid milk and one-third beaten egg; fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full; bake in a hot oven 400 to 425 degrees F. about 20 minutes. Makes 5 muffins.

For waffles. To 1 cup of mix add three-fourths cup water or fluid milk and 1 beaten egg yolk; fold in 1 beaten egg white; bake in waffle iron. Makes 2 large waffles.

Griddle cakes. To 1 cup mix add two-thirds to 1 cup water or fluid milk and 1 beaten egg; drop batter by spoonfuls onto a greased griddle; cook slowly until surface is covered with bubbles; turn and brown on bottom. Makes 7 medium sized griddle cakes.—Submitted by Ima Gean Cantrell, Student Teacher, Montevallo High School.

Mrs. Adkins visited her friend, Mrs. W. H. Coley, on the College Dairy Road, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Coley, who has been ill for some time, is still confined to her home. Friends, neighbors and members of her Sunday School Class wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harbert Brown from Birmingham and Mrs. R. L. Parrish and Ann from Siluria were Saturday guests of Mrs. Pearl Tucker and her father, Mr. Maudling.

On The Farms in Shelby County

Jim Mabry, Dargin dairyman, is a firm believer in doing things right from the start. He has bought over two hundred acres of land that is either in woods or idle. He made an agreement with the North Central Soil Conservation District under which he was given a soil capability map.

At present he is having a bulldozer clear all the ground best suited for sericea. Between now and the July sericea planting date he expects to do a thorough job of preparation on this land. The 'doze will return to shake up and repile the windrows for burning. Recommended fertilizer and seeding rates will be used.

Mrs. Luda Gresky has just had a one acre pond constructed on her Montevallo farm. When this pond fills it will be stocked by the State Department of Conservation.

Mr. A. C. Parker is having the location of a proposed dam staked out by the SCS on his farm near Lake Purdy.

Ten farmers in the county have requested government cost sharing help in building stock ponds under the 1954 conservation program. These ponds will have Soil Conservation Service supervision and technical assistance.

ment of war materials and strategic materials from the United States and from our allies to the Communists. Recently Congressman Battle was selected by the Congressional Quarterly as one of the three outstanding Democrats in the U. S. House of Representatives. He is currently serving on the President's Bi-partisan Foreign Economic Policy Commission, which will report its suggestions on tariffs, trades foreign investments, etc., to the Congress and to the President soon.

These and other outstanding services in the United States Congress has brought him both national and international recognition.

Congressman Battle has lived in many places in Alabama as the son of the late Rev. W. R. Battle who was a Methodist minister for over forty years. There are eight children in the family. Laurie was born at Wilsonville in 1912 and lived at Tuscumbia, Athens, Jonesboro, Albertville, Guntersville, Alexander City, Inglenook, LaFayette, Ensley, Piedmont, Talladega, Sylacauga, Crumley, Westwood and Birmingham. Rev. W. R. Battle also lived at Notasulga, Dadeville, Vincent, Harpersville and other places. In his early days he was a bank cashier and then started his ministerial duties as a "circuit rider." Immediate members of the family have lived and taught school at Bridgeport, Boaz, Ashland and Haleyville. Congressman Battle's mother was LeMerle Allen of LaFayette, Alabama. He is married and has three children.

Stages carried passengers along with the mail. In fact, some stage lines were operated solely for passenger service. As population increased and traffic became heavy, several stage lines were sometimes operated on the same road. Before 1800 three separate lines of stages were operated on the Old Federal Road from Columbus to Montgomery. They were known as the "Main Line," the "Telegraph Line," and the "People's Line."

In early Alabama, mail was usually carried by rider on horseback, except on the main thoroughfares, where it was carried in stage coaches during the dry season. One of the leading post routes was the "pony express" from Nashville to Montgomery.

Thorsby Nursery Will Continue To Operate

Rep. Armistead Selden announces that the Thorsby Plant Nursery will continue operation, as a result of an agreement recently signed by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The agreement transfers the nursery to the Experiment Station.

It had been reported previously that the nursery would be closed on June 30 of this year because the Soil Conservation Service would not have sufficient funds to continue its operation in the future. Since that announcement was first made several months ago, Congressman Selden has worked with the Agricultural Experiment Station and the Conservation Service in an effort to effect a plan which would assure continuance of plant research at the Thorsby Nursery.

The cooperation of a number of agencies made it possible for the Experiment Station to assume the responsibility for operation of the nursery. These include the Soil Conservation Service, which leased the facilities to the Experiment Station; the Alabama Crop Improvement Association; and the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to Congressman Selden, the nursery will be operated by the Experiment Station chiefly for the furtherance of a foundation seed stocks program, research with new and improved plant varieties, and basic irrigation research. The nursery will remain in Thorsby, and the Experiment Station will coordinate its activities there with the State and Federal conservation programs.

"We are indeed fortunate," Congressman Selden said, "that the Experiment Station at Alabama Polytechnic Institute is able to assume operation of the Thorsby Nursery so that we will not lose such a vital link in our conservation program."

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 21—Dr. D. P. Culp, professor of education at Alabama Polytechnic Institute since 1951, announced here today that he plans to resign his position with the college and qualify as a candidate for the office of State Superintendent of Education.

Dr. Culp began his teaching career in a one-teacher school. In announcing his intentions to qualify for the state superintendency Dr. Culp said, "I believe that efficient, effective progress in education in Alabama can be made only through cooperative efforts of professional and lay people in facing problems of school finance, better school facilities, and improved instruction. I will seek to promote such efforts in order to improve our state's educational system, if elected to the office of State Superintendent of Education."

He continued by saying, "I firmly believe that since the public schools belong to and are supported by all the people, school leadership should be responsive to the total citizenry of the state. On The Farms in Shelby County

A group of businessmen from Leeds, four Chesser brothers, father and sons of the Peters family on Pea Ridge—that is a list of three groups organized to build lakes in Shelby County in their particular areas. The Leeds group plans a dam on the Moore farm near Westover. The Chessers are now clearing 65 acres for their jointly owned lake near Lloyd's Restaurant. On Pea Ridge, the Peters family are joining to develop a dam site.

These are all to be built to meet specifications of SCS engineers.

Organization of this sort is sometimes necessary to properly develop a particular location. Where there is a large watershed a small pond would not be practical, while a large one might be too expensive for an individual.

SCS engineer, M. Hester, is available to cooperators of the North Central Soil Conservation District to help determine what is needed to develop any dam site they might have.

Heavy rains January 15-16 helped fill several ponds in the east end of the county.

These rains also helped settle some fields of clover and grasses where the recent severe freezes had "heaved" small plants almost out of the ground. This condition was particularly serious on shale soils such as that where the Columbiana FFA chapter has its Michaelmas Clover seed patch.

Christmas disappointments: Although a handkerchief is nothing to sneeze at, when you get one for Christmas you always take it as a blow.

Of course, it's a little late for this, but it has stuck with us, this year-end greeting from one of the more precocious youngsters in our neighborhood—"Cool Yule and a Frantic First to you." This real gone kid was so naughty that he not only didn't get any Christmas present, but is now suing Santa because the old gent impounded his sock.

Circle II Meets With Mrs. Brown

Circle II of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, held its January meeting in the home of Mrs. J. A. Brown Sr., at 3:30.

Mrs. A. E. Baumgartner, Circle Leader, called the meeting to order, and presided over a short business meeting.

Mrs. Don Loveady, president of W.S.C.S., gave a brief report of the Fall District Conference, held in Tuscaloosa, Dec. 7, at First Church.

Mrs. M. L. Orr Sr., was program leader for the afternoon, and presented an interesting program, ably assisted by Mrs. M. E. Lazenby and Mrs. L. C. Parnell.

Mrs. Parnell also read two letters which she had received from the Childrens' Home in Selma, one from Mrs. Max Livingston, wife of the Superintendent of the Home and the other from a teen-age girl, thanking the W.S.C.S. for the lovely boxes of new clothes sent to the Home at Christmas time. The girl who wrote the letter, was the recipient of some of the new articles sent by the Montevallo W.S.C.S. members.

At the close of the program the group enjoyed a deilghtful social hour with the hostess, who served a delicious chicken salad plate to the seventeen members present.

Local Ladies Attend Episcopal Auxiliary

Mrs. Willis Lyman, Mrs. Rosa Lee Marshall and Miss Lorraine Peter attended the meeting of The State Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church held in Demopolis last Wednesday.

Bishop Carpenter and Bishop Murray held the Communion Service at 10 a.m.

One houndred and one years ago a college in Oxford, England, presented the Episcopal Church in America a valuable gold alms basin which is used at the triennial conventions of the Episcopal Church. For this meeting the Church at Demopolis borrowed the alms basin to present the United Thank Offering.

The delegates from Montevallo enjoyed these inspirational and impressive services.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets

The American Legion Auxiliary of the Hendrick-Hudson Post No. 96, Montevallo, met last Thursday evening, Jan. 14, at 7:30, in the Legion Hut with Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and Mrs. W. E. Montgomery as co-hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Cooper Shaw, called the meeting to order and led the group in the opening ritual, after which all joined in praying the Lord's Prayer.

During the business meeting, minutes were read, and reports of treasurer, and standing committees were heard.

The membership chairman reported 41 members paid, up to date. Two new members were present, Mrs. Kyle McClure and Mrs. W. F. Johnsey, and the group welcomed them into the organization.

Mrs. Shaw announced that Dr. Farmer had invited members of the Auxiliary to enroll in a class in first aid, to be taught at Alabama College, beginning the second term and continuing for eighteen weeks, with classes meeting each Tuesday and Thursday at 1:30. Several members present expressed interest in taking the course.

Plans were made to hold a pie sale in the near future with the time and place to be announced later. A committee, composed of Mrs. Robert Holcombe, Mrs. A. L. Chambers and Mrs. Fred Miller, were appointed to make further plans and arrangements for the sale.

Mrs. Holcombe, Americanism Chairman, introduced the two lovely guests of the evening, Misses June McQueen and Carolyn Kearley, both students of Alabama College and both recipients of American Legion Auxiliary Scholarships.

The girls talked, informally, of their participation in Junior Auxiliary work, and of helping Poppy Day Sales from early childhood. They spoke, repeatedly, of what the Legion and Auxiliary had meant to them all of their life, and stated that the most valuable thing about the scholarships was the trust in them, as individuals, that the Legion and Auxiliary had, and a trust that was treasured by them, as young people.

At the conclusion of the program, the hostesses served a delicious chicken salad plate and coffee to 20 members and the two guests.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

During the past two months I have received scores of resolutions from every county in the Sixth District endorsing the proposed development of the Coosa River by the Alabama Power Company. As you know, the Coosa River forms the greater part of the eastern boundary of the Sixth District. For this reason, I thought you would be interested in several facts relative to the development of this waterway.

In 1872 the federal government instituted the first improvement program on the Coosa. The plans called for development of navigation on this river from Rome, Ga., to Gadsden, Ala., by the building of 31 low-lift locks and dams. However, only Locks 1, 2, 3, and 4 were built on the upper end of the rapids below Rome; and in 1890 the government abandoned its program due to lack of funds.

Later the Alabama Power Company obtained permission from the federal government to build three dams on the Coosa River. The first of these—Lay Dam, which is located between Chilton and Coosa Counties—was authorized by an Act of Congress in 1907 but construction was not completed until 1914. In 1921 the Federal Power Commission granted a license for construction of Mitchell Dam which is also between Chilton and Coosa Counties, and two years later, this dam was ready for use. The third of the dams—Jordan Dam, located north of Wetumpka in Elmore County—was lieensed by the FPC in 1923 and was completed in 1926.

These three dams are the only ones on the Coosa River at the present time. They have been operated as a source of electric power by the Alabama Power Company since they were constructed.

In the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1945, Congress vested authority for the further development of the Coosa exclusively in the U. S. Corps of Engineers. As a result, the Federal Power Commission was deprived of the authority to issue licenses to build dams on the Coosa Waterway.

Although the members of the Alabama delegation in Congress have worked relentlessly in an effort to secure an appropriation so that the Corps of Engineers might begin construction on locks and dams for the Coosa, none has been forthcoming, due to the tremendous cost involved. Also, the prospects for future appropriations are not too bright.

In the meantime, the Alabama Power Company has proposed the construction of five additional dams to be financed by private capital. One of the five will be built in Shelby County near Wilsonville. In October of last year the Power Company's plans for these five dams were filed with the Mobile office of the Corps of Engineers for consideration and study. The following month the Power Company filed with the Federal Power Commission an application for a temporary permit to enable them to do extensive drilling and other preliminary work so that the exact sites of the dams might be determined. To act on this application, it will be necessary for Congress to pass a resolution giving the Power Commission authority to do so. If Congress so acts and the Federal Power Commision grants a temporary permit, the Alabama Power Company can then apply for a license to construct the proposed dams.

Representatives of the Alabama Power Company visited Washington last week and consulted with members of the Alabama Congressional delegation and also with the Corps of Engineers. Most of the members of the delegation have stated publicly that they look with favor on the Power Company's proposal, provided the Corps of Engineers approve the plans that have been submitted. It is hoped that such approval will be forthcoming and that action by the Congress can be taken during the present session. Present prospects look encouraging.

The construction of these dams by the Alabama Power Company will answer Alabama's present need for additional electric power and at the same time will save the taxpayers approximately one hundred million dollars. It will create temporary employment for Alabamians over a period of five to seven years during the construction and permanent employment after dams are completed. By reducing the cost of overall development of the river, the possibility of obtaining federal funds for the addition of navigational facilities will be enhanced. Industrial sites will also be created along this waterway.

After considering these and other advantages that will result from the construction of these dams, it is easy to understand why I have received resolutions from every corner of he Sixth District, as well as from all over Alabama, favoring the Power Company's proposal.

$29,000,000
Crop last year...

The 1953 crop of new rural telephones was a big one. Southern Bell added 83,000, making a total of over 550,000 now serving rural areas in nine southeastern states.

This big crop of telephones cost us $29,000,000, including the cost of poles, lines, switching and other equipment.

Another big telephone crop is coming up this year, because we know how more and more farm folks are depending on the telephone in their daily work and living.

Composer-Pianist To Give Program

Lionel Nowak, distinguished composer-pianist, will be featured at Alabama College's regular convocation program Tuesday morning at 11:00 a.m. in Palmer Hall on the Montevallo campus.

Now on a concert tour in Europe, Mr. Nowak will return to New York on January 29, and arrive in Montevallo on Saturday, Jan. 30. In addition to his convocation concert, which is open to the public, Mr. Nowak will hold music clinics for Alabama College's School of Music and will meet with the College's Glee Club and Orchestra.

Beginning his musical activities at the age of six, Lionel Nowak was soloist with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra at eleven. Winner of the Federation of Music Clubs awards for three years, Nowak later became Professor of Music and Fine Arts at Fenn College and later served as pianist and composer for the Doris Humphrey-Charles Weidman Modern Dance Company.

LIONEL NOWAK

Mr. Nowak also served as conductor of the Spartanburg Symphony Orchestra, as Professor of Piano and Composition at Syracuse University, Converse College School of Music and Bennington College.

His compositions include chamber music, ballets, songs and piano pieces. His works have been performed by the League of Composers, the Yaddo, Bennington, and Spartanburg Music Festivals and by individual performers elsewhere.

Mr. Nowak's convocation concert will include Mozart's "Fantasy in C Minor"; Opus No. 17 from Robert Schuman's "Fantasy in C Major"; two of his own Phantasms; "Fantasy" by Goeb; and Chopin's "Fantasy in F Minor".

Rev. Lamb Will Preach Sunday

Rev. O. Kyle Lamb, pastor of the Montevallo Methodist Church will preach at both services Sunday. The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Good Life," and the theme for the evening service at 7:30 will be "He Restores and Leads." The evening message will be the third of six to be given on the 23rd Psalm.

Sunday School will meet at 10 a.m. and the Wesley Foundation and Fellowship groups will meet at 6:30 p.m.

The meeting of the Official Board will be held Friday evening at 7:30 in lieu of Thursday evening. The change has been made necessary because of the District Meeting in Tuscaloosa on Thursday evening to which a number of the officials of the church will be expected to attend.

"Mothers' March" Chairmen Named

Approximately 40 women will serve as Montevallo's mighty army in the Mothers' March of Dimes Friday night, Jan. 29. Each of these women gladly volunteered to engage in this march. They are each a mother or grandmother. They serve with pleasure because they realize that the Polio Foundation is doing a wonderful job. Supporting their drive financially is equivalent to taking insurance that pays high dividends if the need for the services for the Foundation arises. Even more than that, the Foundation is continually at work on preventive measures in the fight on Polio.

It is urgently requested that the porch light of each home be turned on early Friday evening. The army marches from 7-8 p.m. The bright light on the porch will serve as an inspiration and a beacon for the marchers, and an invitation to them to come into your home for a contribution. Turn on your porch light Friday night, Jan 29, 7-8 p.m.

The following solicitors will be marching: Mesdames R. H. Tibbs, Bill K. Eddings, R. E. Ballentine, Winona Brooks, I. P. Johnson, E. R. Davis, H. R. Price, S. C. Jones, Fred Frost Sr., M. S. McGehee, L. A. Chambers, Haywood Wooley, M. O. Hicks, A. E. Baumgartner, James Whaley, E. H. Wills, John Stevens, C. S. Norris, Fred Frost Jr., Doris Jeter, Millard Smitherman, W. M. Blankenship, Alfred Allen, Sam Knowles, Kenneth Cunningham Jr, Mack Dennis, Cecil Dennis, Ed Hooker, W. E. Robinson, Alvin McGaughy, S. L. Nichols, W. F. Johnsey, Laura Hicks, Mary Kirby, Misses Lois Ackerly and Susie Dement.

Study Club Sponsors Benefit Bridge Party

A benefit bridge party will be held at Reynolds Hall, Friday, Feb. 12, at 8 p.m.

Tables for both bridge and canasta will be provided. Tickets are one dollar and may be purchased from any of the following committee members: Mrs. Frank Morgan, chairman; Mrs. M. L. Orr Sr., Mrs. L. C. Parnell, and Mrs. G. P. Rogan. A white elephant sale will be a feature of this year's party.

Funeral Rites Held For John M. Wooley

Funeral services were held here Monday for John Moses Wooley, 48, who died Saturday in a Birmingham hospital.

Mr. Wooley, a resident of Montevallo 31 years, was an interior decorator.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Frances Johnson Wooley; his mother, Mrs. J. C. Wooley, and five brothers, C. O., H. O., J. B., and P. H. Wooley, all of Montevallo, and J. D. Wooley, of Ragland.

The Rev. Edward Glover officiated at services at 3 p.m. at Montevallo Baptist Church. Burial was in Montevallo Cemetery.

Baptist Ladies Observe WMS Focus Week

Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church observed the WMS Focus Week, Jan. 17-22. The theme for the week was enlistment.

Sunday, the 17 members sat in a body at the morning worship service "Laborers together with God", I Corinthians 3:9. The WMS watchword was used by the pastor for his morning message.

The WMS colors, lavender and white, were carried out in the chancel flowers, lavender and white glads, placed by the College YWA, honoring the ladies of the WMS. During the week a number of visits were made to prospective members and shut ins.

Wednesday afternoon, the 18th Royal Ambassador Chapter was organized. Friday, a spend the day with a covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by the ladies of the church. Two quilts were quilted that day. The monthly program meeting was held at 3 p.m. in the afternoon with the theme being "Revealing the Savior to Students from Other Lands."

George Kendrick Retires After 43 Years Service As Montevallo Barber

Last Friday was George Kendrick's last day as a barber. He reluctantly gathered up his razors and shears and went home after 43 years of hair cutting and shaving here and a few other places nearby, mostly here. He retired from the barber trade in the same shop where he started in 1910. Since 1927 it has been Mahan's Barber Shop. It was built by Stumpy Ingram. It was with Ingram that George started his career as a barber.

In the early years of his work Mr. Kendrick worked for a while at Centreville, Marvel and Eutaw. After serving in the Army in World War One, Mr. Kendrick established his own shop in Montevallo which he operated until about four years ago when he went to work for Mahan.

During his entire career Mr. Kendrick has been held in high esteem by his friends and neighbors. He served two terms on the Montevallo Town Council. In his first race he got all the votes cast. While not taking a very active interest in politics, Mr. Kendrick has always been a staunch Republican. At one time he was the Republican Candidate for Sheriff of Shelby County.

The lasting impression that his associates have gained from Mr. Kendrick is that he has been a good, solid, upstanding citizen, always devoted to the principles of honesty and fair dealing in all things.

Mr. Mahan makes the statement, "In all my dealings with George Kendrick, both as a competitor and as an employee, I have found him to be scrupulously honest, fair and square in all his dealings."

The late beloved Houston Wills was a close friend and admirer of Mr. Kendrick. It is recalled that he used to say, "I regard George Kendrick as an ideal citizen."

Mr. Kendrick has been one of the most faithful members of the American Legion since its organization. He has held about every office in Hendrick-Hudson Post No. 96.

His many friends wish him a long, happy and peaceful period of rest and retirement from his labors.

County Director Urges Increased Support of March of Dimes Campaign

MISS HARRIET TAYLOR

MISS JEAN McINTYRE

"March of Dimes contributions in Shelby County must show a great increase during the last phases of the campaign if we are to do our share in staging what may be the last great battle against polio," says Dr. Orr, County Campaign Director.

"Prospects for a vaccine that will put an end to the reign of this dread crippler are good, but the cost of testing and proving this vaccine will be tremendous."

"Alabama has always received more cash benefits from the March of Dimes than it has contributed. Because of this and because of the great hope for conquering polio, I am appealing to everyone who possibly can to double their contribution to the Mothers' March this year," Mr. Orr said.

Besides financing massive field trials on the prospective vaccine, the March of Dimes organization has pledged to make available in 1954 as much gamma globulin as possible. It will cost an average of approximately $15.20 to give the temporary protection of gamma globulin to one eprson in 1954, Mr. Orr pointed out. Besides this, we must continue to care for those who have already been stricken. There are approximately 66,000 polio victims across the nation who need continued assistance. Alabama alone has more than 1,400 of these.

We must remember in considering our donation that polio is the only epidemic disease on the increase, and that an epidemic such as that in Montgomery and some of its surrounding counties this past summer is by no means unique and unusual, but is typical of what can be expected until polio is conquered. Until a vaccine is proven, no son, daughter, niece, nephew or grandchild is safe from the shadow of the crippler.

Two New Members Join College Staff

Two new members joining the Alabama College faculty this week are Miss Harriet Marot Taylor and Miss Jean Carol McIntyre.

Miss Taylor, Assistant Professor of Religion, comes to Montevallo from Bradford College, Haverhill, Massachusetts. A graduate of Barnard College, New York City, and Andover Newton College, Newton Centre, Massachusetts, Miss Taylor is a member of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis.

Miss McIntyre, Instructor in Dance in the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and has served as camp counselor at Camp Sequoya, Bristol, Virginia, and Camp Nagawicka, Delafield, Wisconsin. While at the University of Arkansas she served as President of the Women's Recreation Association for the state of Arkansas. She was also a member of Orchesis, Mortar Board, Kappa Delta Phi, Tau Beta Sigma, and Alpha Lambda Delta. Miss McIntyre comes to Montevallo from Valparaiso, Indiana, where she has been teaching in the Valpariso public schools.

BAKE SALE

The American Legion Auxiliary will have a bake sale at The Little Shop Thursday afternoon, Feb. 4, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mission Worker Speaks At Presbyterian Church

Mr. Robert C. Shane, business manager from the Presbyterian Mission in North Brazil, gave a most interesting word picture of that country, which, because of its immensity, imposes many problems not only for the missionaries but also the natives. His review of mission work including schools as well as churches was an inspiration to all who were privileged to hear him at the morning worship hour at the Presbyterian Church Sunday.

On Sunday evening Mr. Shane was guest at the meeting of Westminster Fellowship at the Forbes House.

Miss Joyce Lucas To Be Honored With Shower

Miss Joyce Lucas, bride-elect, will be entertained with a miscellaneous shower by the Wommen's Missionary Union of the Underwood Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. Glover Greene on Thursday, Jan. 28, from 2 to 4 p.m. The honoree is the fiance of Joseph P. Bridges. Their wedding will be Jan. 30.

Selden Deserves Another Term

Since the state committee meeting last week, candidates are announcing thick and fast.

There are candidates for Governor and other state offices all over the place.

One important office has not been mentioned much, that of our Congressman in the Sixth District. Of course it is certain that the incumbent, Armistead Selden, will run for re-election. It appears that there will be no opposing candidate against him, and we think that is the way it should be.

Mr. Selden is serving his first term. He has made a good start. We believe the manner in which he has handled his job justifies another term for him.

Together with his ability and level-headed approach to the actual duties of his office in Washington, he has showed that he has boundless energy and great zeal and eagerness to serve his constituents.

We find ourselves in full agreement with this statement of the Greensboro Watchman concerning Mr. Selden:

"Armistead Selden has been on the job 24 hours a day, every day in the week. He has been a faithful and conscientious public servant. We trust that the people of the Sixth District will give him the second term which he so justly deserves."

We might add that we hope the bee doesn't get in the bonnet of somebody else and thus precipitate a useless campaign. Congress is in session and Selden needs to be in Washington instead of back home "electioneering."

University Awards Degrees to Local Students

Among the candidates to receive degrees at the University of Alabama at the mid-winter Commencement Saturday are:

Glen T. Bashore, Maplesville, LLB; Richard David Reynolds, Clanton, MA in Psychology; Lowell Denson Smith, Vincent, MA in School Administration.

JACK OWEN

Jack Owen Enters Governor's Race

Our man Jack Owen got off to a good start as a candidate for Governor last week in the fast-popping political fireworks at Montgomery.

A group of candidates for Governor were invited to speak before the Alabama Press Association Friday night. Five of them "drew straws" for the order in which they would speak and Jack got first placement.

Then after the State Committee threw the gate open for announcement of candidates, Saturday, Jack was the first candidate for Governor to officially qualify.

We hope his good luck in being first will hold out when the votes are counted in the May Primary.

When he filed his official announcement for Governor, Mr. Owen released the following statement:

In announcing that I have qualified with the Democratic Executive Committee as a candidate for Governor of the State of Alabama, I believe the people have a right to know the purposes and principles which will govern my conduct if I am chosen as your Chief Executive.

That a moral and religious way of life is the basis for happiness—both for the individual and for society—is a cardinal law with me. These things I hold to be true: Character above knowledge; public service above private gain.

In my campaign I will bring to the people a definite plan. This plan should be and can be carried out to effect the needs and desires of our people. My plan is a progressive one particularly along the lines of new and greater industries for the State of Alabama which, as your Governor, I can materially help to bring about.

I owe allegiance to no special interests or group. My unqualified loyalty is to all the people of the State of Alabama.

A forger is a fellow who gives a check a bad name.

Dothan Paper Supports Battle

The Dothan Eagle has announced its support of Rep. Laurie Battle for the United States Senate.

In an editorial entitled: "A Positive Candidate Enters the Senate Race," the newspaper praised Battle's record as a four-term Congressman from the Ninth District and predicted his election in the Democratic Primary of May 4th. It said:

"Rep. Battle, a four-term Congressman from the Ninth District, has a record that stamps him definitely as Senatorial timber. Voters who support him can do so in the knowledge that they are doing more than protesting the Sparkman record. Unlike Sparkman, Rep. Battle has kept his eyes upon his home State instead of peeking into the green pastures of national politics. . .

"The Battle record, as it is made known up and down Alabama in the months ahead, is going to generate enthusiasm he doesn't dream of now, a sort of enthusiasm that will be the deciding factor in the race. .

"It's going to be a humdinger of a race and when it's all over 50 per cent of Alabama's representation in the Senate is going to be in tune with the philosophy and desires of the people of Alabama."

McClendon To Run For Road Commissioner

Our road commissioner Fred McClendon called on us Wednesday to report that things are progressing nicely with county business, both at the capital city of Columbiana and over the district which he supervises.

Incidentally, he mentioned that he will announce as a candidate for another term when the County Committee meets Thursday.

Well, that's good enough for us. We'll take Fred for another term without question, on the basis of the fine record he has made the past four years.

Which Quadruplet Has The Toni?

(An Editorial from The Montgomery Advertiser)

Congressman Laurie Battle has not yet told the people of Alabama which Senator Sparkman he is running against.

Is Congressman Battle running against the Sparkman who asked Harlem to forget that he was a former Alabamian and just leave it to him and the Democratic platform?

Or is Congressman Battle running against the Sparkman who now asks Alabama to forget that he is a former vice-presidential candidate who wrote and stood on the platform right between Truman and Adlai, and just leave it to him—that is, henceforward—to defend segregation as it now exists?

Or is Congressman Battle running against the Sparkman who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act?

Or is Congressman Battle running against the Sparkman who turned around and voted against the Taft-Hartley Act?

Those are among the best known Sparkmans, though, of course, there are many other Sparkmans of purely local prominence.

That's a lot of Sparkmans. Which one is Battle running against?

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

President Eisenhower's budget for the fiscal year 1955, which was sent to Congress last week, contains an estimate that the United States will spend 65.6 billion dollars in the new fiscal year that begins July 1, 1954. The President estimated next year's revenues at 62.7 billion dollars, which will leave the government with a deficit of 2.9 billion dollars at the end of the 1955 fiscal year.

As compared to estimates for the current fiscal year, these figures show a decline of 5.3 billion dollars in spending and a reduction of 4.9 bilion dollars in revenues. However, we must remember that these figures are only estimates and will undoubtedly be revised a number of times.

The President says revenue losses in fiscal 1955 will be due to these items—the end of the excess profits tax, the 10 per cent cut in personal income taxes (both of these took effect January 1 of this year), and the effect of 25 tax law revisions which he has recommended to Congress.

According to the new budget, 37.6 billion dolars will be spent in 1955 for the armed forces alone. This is four billion dollars less than the amount expected to have been spent on the armed services by the end of the 1954 fiscal year. At the same time, the President's budget calls for a reduction in military personnel from the current average of about 3,400,000 to 3,200,000.

Cost of interest on the public debt will consume about 10 per cent or 6.9 billion dolars of the new budget, compared to an estimated 6.6 billion dollars for the current fiscal year. The next largest single item in the budget is 4.2 billion dollars for veterans' programs which is the same amount allowed for the current year.

Funds for Warrior Dam

The President's budget contains an item of particular interest to residents of the Sixth District—an appropriation of two million dollars to be used to begin construction on the vitally need Warrior Lock and Dam. This structure, to be located between Hale and Greene Counties near Lock 7, will eliminate Locks and Dams 8 and 9. These present locks and dams, built at the turn of the century, are not only obsolete, but worn in some instances to the point of being dangerous.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers has stated that, "in order to maintain navigation for 10 years over the Warrior River from the Demopolis pool to the Tuscaloosa Lock and Dam, it will be necessary to either build the Warrior Lock and Dam or to replace Lock and Dam 9 with a new structure and rehabilitate Lock and Dam 8 with a four months closure of the waterway."

Since my election to Congress, I have worked diligently to obtain funds for the construction of the Warrior Lock and Dam. I have done so not only because I favor the further development and modernization of the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway, but because I am convinced that, from a long range point of view, it will be more economical to build this new structure than to incur the tremendous expense of repairing and rebuilding the two antiquated locks and dams.

Last October I arranged a hearing before the Bureau of the Budget and appeared personally at this hearing in Washington with the president and executive vice-president of the Warrior-Tombigbee Development Association. We discussed with officials of the Budget Bureau the urgency for funds to begin construction on the Warrior Lock and Dam and made a plea that the 1955 budget contain such an appropriation. The inclusion of this item in the 1955 budget is therefore particularly gratifying to those of us who attended this hearing.

Getting this item into the budget is the first in a number of important hurdles that must be cleared before an appropriation is authorized for this work. It must be recommended next by the Appropriations Committee of the House and then voted on by the House members. Should it be approved by both the House Appropriations Committee and a vote of the members of the House, the same procedure will be necessary in the Senate.

In any event, the recommendation in the President's budget for funds for the new lock and dam is a significant step forward, and will, I am sure, be welcomed by those who envision the great possibilities of further developing the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway.

Legislative Notes

By a voice vote, the House last Thursday adopted the House-Senate Conference report on cotton quota legislation. In doing so, it agreed with the Senate that the 1954 cotton acreage permissable under price support law should be increased from the 17,810,488 acres now allowed to 21,379,342 acres. This compromise legislation also gives the counties more discretion in apportioning acreage.

Earlier the same day, the House voted overwhelmingly for the establishment of a separate Air Force Academy. Under the terms of this historic legislation, an appropriation of 26 million dollars is authorized for the air "West Point" and the Secretary of the Air Force is allowed to select the permanent site.

Ebenezer Club Holds Meeting

The Ebenezer Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. T. S. Hill on Thursday, Jan. 21, at her hobby shop. Those attending were Mrs. H. A. Pauly, Mrs. George Howell, Mrs. Jimmy Spain, Mrs. Gladys Allen, Mrs. R. H. Davis, Mrs. James Wyatt, Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mrs. Ferman Albright, Mrs. Earl Swinford, Mrs. N. T. Frost, Mrs. Della Davis, Miss Marion Cotney and Miss Davis; one visitor, Mrs. Hayes from Ellis, Kan.

Mrs. Hill gave the devotional. Sandwiches, cookies and drinks were served for lunch. The demonstration was on investments and legal matters given by Mrs. H. A. Pauly.

Mrs. N. T. Frost, who is chairman of the Mothers March of Dimes for this community, asked for donations and received $3.95. We discussed the club house which we hope to build in the future.

Forest Fire Losses Decrease in Alabama

Montgomery, Ala.—Alabama's 1953 forest fire prevention record was the best in State history despite extreme drouth conditions during the fall which led to severe increases in forest burn.

According to figures released here by the State Department of Conservation only 1.59 per cent of the 18,111,598 acres of forest under protection in Alabama burned during 1953. This compared with 3.28 per cent burn in 1952 and 2.06 per cent burn in 1951, both considered good annual protection records.

Earl M. McGowin, Director of the Department of Conservation, said the record in 1953 was only a fraction of one per cent above the 1.4 per cent considered as basic fire protection and set as the ultimate goal of State fire-fighting forces.

Siluria Students Begin "Learn to Study" Program

Beginning Monday, Jan. 24, 1954, there will be a series of films entitled "Learning To Study" shown to the entire student body of Thompson High School. This series is made up of the seven following titles:

"Study Headquarters," "Getting Down To Work," "Using a Text Book," "Taking Notes in Class," "Giving a Book Report," "Writing a Research Paper," "Reviewing."

This program will run over a period of 14 instructional days. These instructional periods will be scattered throughout the next six weeks period and the students will receive this visual instruction in the Visual Aids Lab of Thompson High School. This program is a part of the follow-up to the instructional improvement which has been under way for the past two years.

Students will observe methods used in the seven films in sections and will be tested accordingly.

It is the opinion of the student council and the school staff of Thompson High School that learning to study is one of the prime problems that faces school youth today, and it is with this broad objective that this program is undertaken.

Cooperation Asked In Mothers' March

Dr. M L. Orr, Chairman for the March of Dimes in Shelby County, asks the cooperation of every person next Friday night when the county joins the nation in observing the "Mothers' March on Polio". Dr. Katherine Vickery, Chairman of the "Mothers' March" states:

"The March will begin at 7 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m. If there is a contribution ready in your home, please turn on your porch light so the mother who is working your community will know to stop for it. Alabama has received so much more from the National Foundation for Polio than it has ever given that each of us should feel that this is an opportunity to express our gratitude. We are also hoping that the drive will net sufficient funds to make the experiment, which we hope will indicate the end of polio in this country, possible this summer. Won't you do all you can to help?"

Dr. Vickery announces the following community chairmen: Acton, Mrs. Oscar Harris and Mrs. Clyde Rutherford, Helena Rt. 1; Aldrich, Mrs. Paul Crenshaw; Bethel-Chapel Community, Mrs. S. P. A Message about Telephone Rates...

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

To Our Customers In Alabama:

We want you to know why we have asked the Alabama Public Service Commission to approve an increase in telephone rates. But first, let me say that the additional income requested by the Company will amount to only a small increase for each customer. For instance, it will average less than 2 cents a day for residential telephone subscribers.

Since 1939, when inflation began, our costs per telephone of providing service in Alabama have gone up 91%. During this period, telephone rates on the average have risen only 43%. As a result, there has been a severe drop in telephone earnings.

The cost of telephone equipment and materials has increased a great deal since 1939. Poles have gone up 134%, cable 88%, cross-arms 173%, and copper wire 145%.

In addition, since February, 1952, the date of the last telephone rate increase, there have been two increases in the wages of our Alabama employees, to bring their pay in line with prevailing wage levels in their communities. These wage increases amounted to over $2,200,000 a year.

Despite the fact that we have more than doubled the number of telephones in service in the State since 1946, there is a big telephone job still to be done in Alabama. Twenty thousand people of the State are waiting for telephones. Also, 37,000 party-line customers are asking for higher grades of service.

We must earn a fair profit, however, if we are to attract the additional investment money required to continue the improvement and expansion of service the public in Alabama is demanding. So we are simply asking for rates that will enable us to do the job Alabama wants us to do.

Sincerely yours,

Harry B. Lackey
Alabama Manager

Compared with other prices, telephone rates are low.

Since 1939, consumer prices in general have climbed 91%, while telephone rates in the overall have increased only 43% in Alabama. At the same time the per capita income has increased 318%.

Residential telephone service took 2.6% of average family income in 1939. Today it takes only 1%. With the rate increase that is needed, it still will take only 1.3% -- just one-half the share of family income it took in 1939.

Farm Bureau Campaigns For Increased Acreage

Passage of the new cotton acreage law substantially increasing Alabama's allotment and providing for more equitable adjustments in the future followed an intensive campaign by cotton-belt farmers backed by the Alabama and American Farm Bureau Federations, Mr. H. A. Pauly, president of the Shelby County Farm Bureau, said this week.

While not all of the Farm Bureau's recommendations were adopted by Congress, the new legislation will give this state more than 207,000 additional acres than would have been the case under the old law. With an average yield of 300 pounds per acre, it is estimated that this increase will mean the addition of some $20,000,000 to Alabama's cotton income this year, Mr. Pauly said.

Drive Begins Early

He explained that the drive for a more orderly adjustment of the cotton production program began early last year when Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced that under the law existing at that time, the nation's total acreage must be reduced from the 25,284,600 raised in 1953 to 17,910,000 this year. Walter L. Randolph, President of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, was chairman of four belt-wide conferences at which efforts were made to iron out differences among the various producing states.

As a result of these conferences, near-unanimous agreement was reached, and cotton states congressman and senators threw their support behind a Farm Bureau recommendation to raise the 1954 acreage to 21,379,342. Even this amount will necessitate considerable reduction in plantings of many farmers and a revamping of many individual farm programs. However, the Farm Bureau official explained, many hardship cases will be relieved and an orderly adjustment in line with supply and prospective demand brought about. The Farm Bureau advocated continuance of the 90 per cent of parity price support on cotton.

Candidates Become Active As County Political Campaign Opens

Hugh Sims Seeks Sheriff's Post; Lawley Runs For Revenue Office

Hugh W. Sims, of Columbiana, a young man of varied experience in law enforcement, is trying for the office of County Sheriff. He was deputy Sheriff under Mr. Bozeman for 14 months and has been Chief of Police and superintendent of the waterworks at Columbiana since 1946. Mr. Sims, a native of St. Clair County, 40 years old, has lived in Shelby County since 1935. He served 20 months in the Navy during World War II. He is superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School at Columbiana, a Mason and Shriner. Mr. Sims says: "Upon the basis of my prior years of experience in law enforcement, I feel that I can reasonably assure the people of Shelby County that I will render competent service if you choose me for your Sheriff."

Woodrow Elliott

Mr. Elliott, County Superintendent of Education for the past four years, offers for re-election to that office. It appears that Mr. Elliott's conduct of his office has been in a manner of firmness and steady approach to the problems of betterment of our county schools. He has not done much "talking," but has been in there steadily at work on his job in a dignified and serious manner. "I will be very grateful for the continued support of the people in my efforts to properly administer our school system," says Mr. Elliott.

Fred McClendon

Here is another present office holder with a good record of service who asks the people of Shelby County to give him another term as Member of the County Board of Revenue and Control in the Second District. His district includes the Southwest part of Shelby County, including Calera and Montevallo. However, the people of all the County now vote for members of the Board of Revenue in each District.

Mr. McClendon lives at Maylene. He is chairman of the Board of Deacons at Ryan Baptist Church and is a Mason. In making his announcement for re-election Mr. McClendon says:

"I have done what I promised I would do when you elected me before. I appreciate the co-operation that has been given me by the people at large and by my associate Members of the Board. I realize that experience in this job is a most valued asset, and that I will be able in the next four years to use my experience of this term to give to my district and to Shelby County better service in the future."

Grover C. Lawley

Grover C. Lawley, a well-known young business man, of Dogwood, is in the race for Member of the County Board of Revenue and Control for the second district. Although new in politics, Mr. Lawley has been an active citizen of his community for several years, taking a leading part in public affairs, civic, educational and religious activities. He has been in the mercantile business at Dogwood since 1938.

Mr. Lawley says: "I solicit the support of the voters of Shelby County in my bid for membership on the Board of Revenue in the Second District. I believe I am able to perform the duties of the office in a satisfactory manner. I pledge my best efforts to do this of I am chosen by the people for this important office."

W. W. (Squatty) Martin

Seeking the office of County Treasurer is W. W. (Squatty) Martin, of Columbiana.

Seeks Re-election

A. E. (Bud) NORWOOD

Norwood, Elliott, McClendon Seek Re-election To Office

Since the County Democratic Executive Committee met last week and set up provisions for holding the Primary election in Shelby County this year, a number of candidates have announced that they will seek the favor of the voters for the various county offices to be filled. The date of the Primary was set as May 4. In cases where a second primary is necessary, the date for same was set for June 1.

Notwithstanding the importance of the offices to be filled this year, it is not expected that the county elections will engender any unusual interest other than the normal and reasonable efforts of individual candidates to get the most votes in order to win the coveted places.

Some speculation is made as to the effect of the many new voters who will participate in this year's elections on account of the new poll tax law. It will, of course, take the results of the voting to properly assess that factor. All we can see to it is that it will simply mean more voters, and therefore more people for the candidates to solicit.

At press time the following county candidates have placed the announcements in this paper:

Bud Norwood

The present Sheriff, A. E. (Bud) Norwood, seeks re-election to that office which he has held for the past four years. The reaction of the people to his candidacy for re-election will naturally turn on their estimation of his past record. He has had the office the past term by approval of a majority which elected him, and he believes that his record has been such that the majority will continue in his support. In making his announcement as a candidate for re-election, Mr. Norwood says:

"I have tried to discharge the duties of Sheriff in a fair, honest and impartial manner for what I conceived to be the best interests of all the people of our county. I deeply appreciate the confidence placed in me by my election to the office four years ago, and I sincerely hope I may have the continued support and confidence of a majority of the people of Shelby County for another term."

Plans Are Made For Girl Scout Camp

The tempo of the kitchen crew at the annual Waffle Supper held on January 27 was different—that new hot water heater works just fine.

The long awaited and much talked about repairs to the Little House will become a reality within the very near future. Mr. Winslett has made the estimates and will see that the repairs are made.

Plans are being made for the Scout Troops to go to camp for a day and night on April 4. It is hoped that this short camping trip will encourage more Scouts to go to Summer Camp.

The Intermediate Scout Troop, of which Mrs. Cal Roden is leader, has four new assistants who will work with the troop in their different fields of interest. They are: Misses June Lee, Ann Moseley, Mary Doney and Jean Bugg, who are students at Alabama College. The interest in scouting has never been greater. This week there were four Intermediate Scouts who came from Siluria to join the Troop.

Tips Given on Social Security and Income Tax Report

One of Uncle Sam's men who is known for his collections (money, that is) is appearing to the public in a new light these days.

The man of the moment is the District Director of Internal Revenue—the same man who advises you of your tax rights, helps you with tax problems and also helps employers, employees, and self-employed individuals receive credit for social security taxes by forwarding the necessary information to the Social Security Administration.

Neither Internal Revenue nor the Social Security Administration can give the proper service to social security accounts unless proper social security reports are filed.

Employers should be sure that their quarterly social security reports show the wage earner's social security number, name, and amount of wages earned during the calendar quarter.

Self-employed individuals report their net earnings, if more than $400, along with their regular income tax return. Such report should clearly show their name, social security number, nature of business, and net earnings.

Questions on reporting self-employment and payment of taxes should go to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Birmingham, Alabama.

Questions about your rights and benefits under the Social Security Act should be directed to the Social Security Administration, 1825 First Avenue, North, Birmingham, Alabama.

The only bad thing about going to the movies these days is the thought that you'll be seeing all those pictures again in 1960 on television.

An Experiment in Beer Drinking

I used to drink a lot of beer. I had a bad stomach back in the "middle ages" and the doctor said drinking beer would be good for me.

I drank it for a long time and a lot of it. It was good and good for me. One thing the doc didn't tell me was that some day it might get to where it was not a proper remedy for my ailment. It did, nevertheless, and I found that out without a doctor having to tell me. So I quit drinking it, and was right back where I started except I didn't have the money I spent for beer.

The foregoing confession is by way of introduction to a bit of interesting beer history which I found in the waste basket this week along with acres of political candidate stuff. I thought it as well to fill up a bit of space about beer as to use the political nothings.

Some Beer History

Women were the master brewers of ancient times, as far back as the earliest recorded history, and made beers something like those of today, according to clay tablets preserved in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

The tablets are quoted in a recent publication, "Barley, Hops and History", which tells how beer has developed through the ages until now it is served in two out of three American homes. Beer is so old, it states, that an Assyrian tablet of 2,000 B.C. lists it among the foods which were taken aboard Noah's Ark.

Among other interesting facts brought out in the brief history is that Christopher Columbus, making his fourth voyage to the New World in 1502, found the natives of Central America making a first-rate brew "...of maize, resembling English beer."

European beer, however, arrived in America aboard the Mayflower, according to a journal kept by one of the passengers, who reported that the Pilgrims decided to land at Plymouth Rock, instead of farther south because "we could not now take time for further search or consideration: our victuals being much spent, especially our beere..." A copy of the diary is in the Library of Congress.

Samuel Adams, "Father of the Revolution," was a brewer, as his father had been, and Israel Putnam, who left his plow in a Connecticut field to join the Revolutionary forces, had an interest in a brewery. Thomas Jefferson sent to Bohemia for brewers to teach the art to Americans, saying "I wish to see this beverage become common." William Penn had his own brewery near Bristol, Pa., where it has been restored.

George Washington had his own beer recipe, still preserved at the New York Public Library. A few years ago most modern brewmasters tested it, following the Father of His Country's handwritten instructions. The beer turned out to be fairly potable, they reported, but would fall far short of modern standards of palatability.

HILL HIJACKS IKE

(An Editorial from the Montgomery Advertiser)

Sometimes you simply have to relax and enjoy Senator Hill's hoaxes with him.

It may be recalled that in 1952 The Advertiser commented on Senator Hill's statement, laced and laminated with statistics, that the Democratic Party, just next—barely—to God, was actually responsible for the fact that Americans live longer today than ever before. Pasteur, Koch, Jenner, Reed, the A.M.A., sulfa and penicillin were given some credit all right, but the causes accentuated by Hill were such Democratic legislation as the Hill-Burton hospital bill (Burton was a Republican, but the bill was nevertheless described as a Democratic accomplishment). Anyway, there was Dr. Lister Hill's RX—vote Democratic and live longer. In short, he was saying of your heart beat and breath of life—"Don't let them take it away."

The Senior Toga is at it again, this time in a press release. This present hoax may not surpass the claim of increased life expectancy, but it's a beaut.

This press release tells of "proposals sponsored by Senator Lister Hill" which would make Alabamians pay less income tax. The minute the tax bill comes over to the Senate from the House, that minute will the senator, striking swiftly as a rooster at a June bug, offer amendments to reduce the taxes of the "middle and lower" brackets.

Among these amendments will be those to create larger exemptions on retirement incomes, increased deductions for medical bills and working mothers on their child-care expenses, permit more liberal deductions on college children who work.

The comedy of it is that substantially all of this is in President Eisenhower's tax revision program! Hill's figures may vary, but this tax relief is substantially that already proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

They are undoubtedly going to pass because President Eisenhower has proposed them. Thus the senator is artfully seeking to take the credit for himself.

Hill's press release will be printed and then, after President Eisenhower has wadded the reforms through Congress, he will issue a second release reminding Alabamians that back on Feb. 1 he began working for the tax reforms. Thousands will consider that their champion has come through for them again. Of course, there'll be a few like Congressman Kenneth Roberts who will be sore, because he has been agitating for the working mother tax relief amendment, along with others, for more than a year.

But they've just got to understand that Senator Hill's ability to ride coattails—FDR's openly, Ike's in disguise—is an uncommon gift, made greater by 30 years, man and boy, of the most diligent application.

And since it does little harm in this case—only the senator's political rectitude being involved—The Advertiser is taking time out to enjoy his parlor tricks. You have to admit it's good entertainment when a man can denounce the "big business" Eisenhower administration at the same time he forges his name on its program, as thousands cheer. Houdini—who he?

An old-fashioned girl blushes when she is embarrassed, but a modern girl is embarrassed when she blushes.—The Lincoln.

FERTILIZE PONDS EARLY TO GET BETTER FISHING

Early pond fertilization means better fishing, says Earl Kennamer, API Extension fish and wildlife specialist.

And he advises pond owners not troubled by flood waters flowing through their ponds to begin fertilizing around Feb. 1. Fertilizer materials stimulate early production of fish food in the water so bluegills will be able to spawn heavily. They, in turn, supply food for young bass born in March, April, and May.

"The first three fertilizer applications should be made at two-week intervals," says the specialist. "And any additional application should be made only when the water begins to clear below the surface or when your hand can be seen beneath the surface at elbow depth. Each application should consist of 100 pounds of 6-8-4 and five pounds of ammonium nitrate or 10 pounds of nitrate of soda.

"There are two satisfactory ways to apply fertilizer. Throw the fertilizer into the water from the bank or distribute it from a motor-boat. Or use the wooden platform method.

"Provide one platform for a pond under five acres in size, two for a 20-30 acre pond. Space the platforms well apart around the shortline, and set them 12 to 15 inches below the surface. Place fertilizer sacks on the platform flat side down, and tear the paper covering from the tops and part of the sides. Wave action will distribute the fertilizer over the pond."

If your pond has large amounts of uncontrolled water coursing through it, concludes Kennamer, don't fertilize now. Wait until the water drops to its normal flow over the spillway or stops altogether.

One of the teen-agers in our neighborhood was arrested by a motorcycle policeman last week. The officer told him he wasn't being arrested for speeding, just for buzzing the pavement.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The chances are good that a number of the inequities in our present tax laws will be corrected during the current session of Congress.

In his budget message, President Eisenhower recommended a number of tax law changes. He sent 25 specific suggestions for tax revisions to Congress and said he expected to recommend additional changes later. If approved by Congress, these recommended revisions are estimated to cost about $1.25 billion.

Even before the President's budget message, the House Ways and Means Committee had been at work on legislation to revise our Internal Revenue Code. Since receiving the President's recommendations, this committee has made public a number of specific proposals. Among these is one of particular interest to me as it is somewhat similar to a tax relief bill I introduced last March. My bill, which provided for deductions of all medical and dental expenses up to the present $1250 limitation for single persons and $5000 for families, was introduced in an effort to bring a small measure of relief to all taxpayers and especially to those whose incomes are small. Under the law now in force, a person cannot begin to deduct medical and dental expenses for income tax purposes until they amount to 5 per cent of his annual income. This means that many citizens with modest incomes who spend from $50 to $200 each year for medical expenses are not allowed to deduct that amount in computing the tax they pay. Under my bill this 5 per cent limitation would be completely removed and the taxpayer would be allowed to deduct all medical and dental expenses up to the present limit.

The measure recently recommended by the Ways and Means Committee is in accord with President Eisenhower's proposal and provides that medical expenses which exceed 3 per cent of total income may be deducted. It raises the limit, however, to $2500 for a single person and $10,000 for families.

Although his recommendation does not grant as much actual tax relief as the legislation I introduced last year, it does improve the situation. At the same time, it shows that the powerful tax-writing committee of the House has taken cognizance of this inequity in our tax laws and has proposed a revision. I feel certain both Houses of Congress will approve this or similar legislation during the present session.

Vet Commanders Speak

The Committee on Veterans Affairs, of which I am a member, heard statements last week from the commanders of three veterans groups who outlined the 1954 legislative programs of their organizations.

National Commander Arthur J. Connell represented the American Legion; National Commander Howard W. Watts spoke in behalf of the Disabled American Veterans; and the AMVETS were represented by their National Commander, Henry J. Mahady.

Legislative Notes

Among bills passed by the House last week was an emergency measure providing for cancellation of $741,548,788 in Commodity Credit Corporation notes issued to the Treasury. Passage of the bill would result in making up for losses suffered by the CCC under the farm price support program during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1953.

Along the same line, the Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a bill calling for an increase of $1,750,000,000 in the CCC's lending authority. This would raise the CCC's total for farm price support loans through 1954 crop years to $8.5 billion. Its present $6 billion authority is almost exhausted.

Introduces Bill

Last Friday I introduced in the House a bill to provide for the issuance of a special postage stamp in commemoration of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion.

Because of the Legion's outstanding accomplishments over the past 35 years, I feel it is most appropriate that the Post Office Department be authorized and directed by Congress to issue a special postage stamp in commemoration of the founding of the world's largest patriotic organization.

Spring Creek Home Club Meets in Calera

The January meeting of the Spring Creek-Valley Grove Home Demonstration Club was held in Calera with Mrs. Earl Taff as hostess.

Mrs. Sam Knowles, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. William Goad, sec-treas., gave the financial report and minutes of the meeting. Miss Cotney led the discussion on legal matters.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Bobby Ingram. The February meeting will also be in Calera at the home of Mrs. Bert Ingram, Feb. 10.

Today's good telephone service will be even better tomorrow thanks to the transistor, a tiny electronic marvel that would fit in a nutshell.

The transistor — invented by Bell System scientists — can do the work of a vacuum tube used in telephone, radio and television equipment and many other things a vacuum tube can not do. It is so small and light, yet so strong and reliable, that it has been called the "mighty midget".

A miracle, yes — but only one of many Bell System advances along the road toward more and better telephone service. To bring these new advances and to keep service good and growing requires a fair profit on the money invested in telephone equipment.

Miss Lucas Weds Joseph P. Bridges

The Underwood Baptist Church was the scene Saturday morning, Jan. 30, of the wedding of Miss Joyce Lucas and Joseph Pickens Bridges. They are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay M. Lucas and Mrs. Terrell Bridges and the late Dr. Bridges.

Altar decorations of greenery, pink and white gladioli and tapers formed a beautiful setting for the double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Edward Glover. Mrs. Lydia Bridges Murphy, organist and sister of the groom, rendered pre-nuptial music while candles were being lighted by Henry Kay Peete. Mrs. Henry Peete, soloist and cousin of the bride, sang "Oh Promise Me."

Mr. Lucas gave his daughter in marriage. Her attendants were Miss Jean Miles of Gordo, maid of honor, and her sister, Mrs. Joseph Cordone, matron.

Best man to the bridegroom was William N. Smitherman, his brother-in-law. Edwin Bridges, his brother, was usher.

The bride wore a pink suit with navy accessories and carried a prayer book topped with an orchid.

Her maid of honor wore a suit of medium blue and her matron a suit of beige. Their flowers were pink camellias.

Mrs. Lucas, mother of the bride, chose a suit of light blue and Mrs. Bridges, mother of the groom, choose a brown suit. Their corsages were yellow rosebuds.

After the ceremony the young couple left for their home in Roanoke Rapids, N. C., where Mr. Bridges is affiliated with the Stone Webster Construction Co.

leadership to the Auxiliary's nearly one million members who are carrying forward the organization's patriotic endeavors in every state, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Panama Canal Zone and several foreign countries.

These women, wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of veterans of three wars, or women who themselves served in the armed forces, are working in a broad program to aid disabled veterans and needy children of veterans, to promote understanding of and loyalty to American democracy, and to help strengthen the United States against the threat of foreign aggression.

Mrs. Burdett, who was unanimously elected to the Auxiliary's highest office at the national convention in St. Louis last September, served overseas in the Army Nurse Corps in World War I, and is a member of the American Legion as well as the Auxiliary. She has brought to the leadership of the Auxiliary a high degree of organizing and administrative ability. She is an attractive speaker, has a fine platform presence and belongs on any list of America's best dressed women.

Betty Burdett, a graduate Registered Nurse, has served in that capacity both overseas and in the States. She became active in the American Legion Auxiliary in 1932 and since that time has held local and state offices in New York, and been Chairman of numerous national committees.

Despite her service work, Mrs. Burdett is a fine homemaker, and her husband and friends boast of her culinary skill.

Congressman Selden Announces Candidacy For Renomination

CONGRESSMAN SELDEN

Rep. Armistead Selden, who represents the 6th Alabama District in Congress, announced today that he will be a candidate for renomination in the Democratic Primary May 4.

In making this announcement, Congressman Selden stated that he intends to stand on the record he has made thus far in the 83rd Congress and on the principles which brought him victory in 1952.

As a first-term member of Congress, Rep. Selden has compiled one of the highest averages in Congress for attending sessions, answering roll and quorum calls. During the first session of the 83rd Congress, he had an average of 99.2 percent on these calls, and to date during the second session he has a 100 percent average.

As a member of the important Veterans Affairs Committee, Rep. Selden shares the responsibility for handling all veterans legislation, inasmuch as this committee has no "twin" committee in the Senate. He was appointed by the chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee to serve on two subcommittees, Administration and Finance in the Veterans Administration and Insurance.

Rep. Selden has been commended in recent newspaper editorials for his successful efforts to keep in close touch with his constituents. While Congress was recessed for a short Easter vacation last year, he returned to Alabama, gave several radio reports dealing with his Congressional activities, and visited all eight counties of the Sixth District. During the Congressional recess from August through December, Rep. Selden kept his office in Tuscaloosa open six days a week but still managed to travel more than 16,000 miles throughout the District.

Rep. Selden has written a regular weekly newspaper column during Congressional sessions. In this column he tells of his activities as the District's representative and of significant developments in the U. S. Congress. He has also stated how and why he has voted on many of the important issues that have confronted members of the House.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Rep. Selden said, "I am very grateful for the privilege of representing the people of the eight counties of the Sixth District. If chosen to serve a second term, I pledge a continuation of all my efforts in behalf of these fine people and this great District."

In making his announcement as a candidate, Mr. Bozeman says, "I have served 17 years as Deputy Sheriff of Shelby County, and I feel that I am qualified for the office of Sheriff. Your support will be sincerely appreciated."

W. P. (Bill) Hill Announces Candidacy For Sheriff Of Shelby County

Responding to the request of many friends and citizens of Shelby County and in keeping with my own wishes, I decided to offer myself as a candidate, realizing the responsibility and duties of the important office of sheriff of Shelby County.

In qualifying as a candidate for this office I very humbly considered the pledge and oath required by my chosen party "Democratic," and as I have been a true Democrat through my voting years, I was therefore qualified to meet these requirements and to seek the office subject to the Democratic Primary. In making this point clear as to where I have always stood politically I would also like to emphasize the fact that at no time have I ever been critical of anyone for their chosen political expressions, for these reasons, from a political standpoint, I feel justified in seeking the support of every vote in this county regardless of his or her past political affiliations.

I am thirty seven years old, a World War II veteran, and have lived in Shelby County as a property owner and taxpayer for more than eleven years. I was born and reared on a Sand Mountain farm and at the present am living on my farm near Calera.

During my boyhood days it was the training of good parents that taught me to be courteous and considerate of everyone regardless of what my duties might be. They

Fire Damages Cleaners' Shop

A fire in the business district of Montevallo last Saturday morning did heavy damage to the building and equipment of the Montevallo Cleaners, owned and operated by Earl McGaughy. The building is owned by Mrs. J. I. Reid.

The fire started in the loft of the building and was hard to get at with water. The volunteer fire boys fought it doggedly, however, and kept it from spreading to adjoining buildings.

It's not that we are exactly superstitious, but since Saturday's fire was the third in recent weeks let's say we hope it was the last for a long spell.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

I had the privilege last week of attending the second annual prayer breakfast of the International Council for Christian Leadership which was held at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington. Again this year we were the guests of Conrad Hilton, owner of many of the world's largest hotels.

After a breakfast of grapefruit, eggs, ham, sausage and coffee, the guests were welcomed by Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, President of the International Council for Christian Leadership. Sen. Carlson then introduced our host, Mr. Hilton, who spoke briefly on the importance of prayer, emphasizing prayer as a means of direct communication with God.

Following Conrad Hilton's talk, Sen. Alexander Wiley read the First Psalm from the Bible. Vice President Nixon then read the first 12 verses from the 15th Chapter of St. John.

President Eisenhower received a standing ovation as he was introduced by Sen. Carlson who reminded the guests that the President had spoken at a similar meeting last year and would not be asked to speak on this occasion as there were so many demands on his time.

The principal speaker was Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Earl Warren. Describing the religious background of American history, the Chief Justice observed that "although in this land of liberty we have had complete separation of church and state for 165 years, our governmental affairs have always been guided by men and women of religious faith." Warren called the religious convictions of Abraham Lincoln and other great Americans the "kind of simple faith that can move mountains." He added, "Before these perplexing, troublesome days pass it may be necessary to move mountains. It is good that we keep the faith together."

To attend a breakfast such as this, where one finds the President, the Vice President, and the Chief Justice of the United States, in addition to many Senators and Members of the House, certainly reassures one that the affairs of our government continue to be guided by men and women of religious faith.

Farmers Can Apply for Loans

Good news for farmers in the Sixth District who need credit to finance their 1954 operations came last week when the Secretary of Agriculture designated our eight counties as eligible for production and economic disaster loans this year. The counties were included in a group of 41 over the State which Secretary Benson felt warranted aid as a result of last summer's lengthy drought.

The emergency loans will be made at three percent interest through the various local offices of the Farmers Home Administration. In order to be eligible to apply, farmers must first have tried and failed to secure finances from private lending sources. Loans can be obtained for fertilizer, seed or any other items needed to carry on farm operations.

This program is completely separate from the emergency feed program conducted by the Department of Agriculture, through which a number of Alabama counties have been declared by the President to be eligible for drought relief. Under this latter program, relief is provided in the form of low-cost feed for cattle.

Lock Rules Relaxed

The public will again be allowed to visit the lock reservations on the Black Warrior, Warrior and Tombigbee Rivers at any time of the day or night, according to a letter I received recently from Maj. Gen. B. L. Robinson, Deputy Chief of the Corps of Engineers. General Robinson said notices to that effect will be posted at the several lock reservations in the near future.

At the beginning of the Korean emergency, one of the security measures put into effect at these installations was the restriction of visitors to the reservations except during daytime hours. This restriction was still in force until last week when Gen. Robinson granted my request that the rules be relaxed so as to permit visitors at the locks at any time. This should be of special interest to those who enjoy fishing at the lock reservations.

MISS WALTON LEAVES COUNTY HEALTH OFFICE

The many friends of Miss Dottie Walton are deeply regretful that she is transferring from Shelby to Tuscaloosa County.

She has been Public Health Nurse in Shelby County the past 5 years and has endeared herself to all those with whom she has come in contact.

As a Public Health Nurse she has few equals. Her sympathetic understanding, attractive personality, willingness to work far beyond requirements and her educational qualifications are rarely found combined in one person.

Miss Walton will be sorely missed by her co-workers in the Health Department who wish for her much happiness in her new work. —Dr. E. F. Sloan, County Health Officer.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

We often discover what will do, by finding out what will not do; and probably he who never made a mistake never made a discovery.—Samuel Smiles.

Even a mild mistake must be seen as a mistake, in order to be corrected; how much more, then, should one's sins be seen and repented of, before they can be reduced to their native nothingness!—Mary Baker Eddy.

Laurie Battle "Lays It On The Line"

In a speech Wednesday night, Feb. 10, launching his campaign for the U. S. Senate, Congressman Laurie C. Battle served notice he would make a fighting but a clean campaign and "lay all issues in the Senate race squarely on the line."

Speaking over a State-wide radio network and television, Battle declared that his decision to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate was made by him and his immediate family alone after several thousand requests from Alabama citizens in every walk of life. He emphasized that he had made no commitments to anybody "except to serve the State of Alabama and my country to the u.most of my ability."

Asserting there was no political machine behind him, he called on "Volunteers for Battle" to form an amateur organization on a State-wide basis, "so that we may win this election decisively."

Battle took the opportunity of his opening address to review his career in private life and the public service. He stated that he had always been a loyal Democrat but underscored the fact that he was a Southern Democrat and had never hesitated to fight such measures as the FEPC and "other so-called Civil Rights legislation" and had always opposed all attempts to break down our segragation laws.

Reviewing his active support of the Tennessee Valley Authority in Congress during his four terms, the Ninth District Congressman proclaimed his purpose to "protect and strengthen TVA so that we may continue to have these facilities available for the defense of our country." He pledged continuation of his fight to move TVA headquarters to Muscle Shoals and predicted this would be done.

Discussing the Battle Act, which embargoes shipment of war and strategic materials by our allies to Russia and her satellite nations, Battle stated that "our intelligence reports that no war materials have gone behind the iron curtain from any one receiving our aid, since the Battle Act was passed."

Lions Club Sponsors Sight Conservation

In January the Montevallo Lions Club became an official member of the Alabama Sight Conservation Association for the year 1954.

More commonly known as "Alabama Sight," the Association is very active in giving expensive sight treatment to those in need and unable to afford it.

The Montevallo Club is responsible for carrying and promoting the cause of "Alabama Sight" in Shelby and Bibb Counties. The club has sponsored many cases of help in restoring sight and providing treatment in the past.

Sparkman Fights Taxation of Local Government Bonds

Senator John Sparkman, Alabama, declared today that he will strongly oppose all efforts to tax municipal bonds. He said the proposal of the House Ways and Means Committee to tax bonds issued by municipalities, counties, and local governing bodies for public housing and industrial development is an attempt to kill the low-rent housing program and to retard industrial growth in Alabama and the South. Sparkman said that moreover the plan is intended as an opening wedge toward the eventual taxation of all State and local government securities.

The Senator said he is insisting that hearings be held on the tax proposal so as to give State and local governing officials the opportunity to appear and present their views in opposition.

He said the Committee should either hold hearings or drop the proposal.

Sparkman stated that federal taxation of State and local securities could deal a death blow to State and local efforts to finance housing projects, sewerage systems, industrial expansion, schools, hospitals, utility developments, or any other local need.

I think the neighbors should bear their share of the blame for our financial plight—they are always doing someting we can't afford.

Special Services At St. Andrews

Members of St. Andrews Episcopal Mission are looking forward to the first official visit of their new Suffragan Bishop Murray on Feb. 14 at 4:30 pm. All members of St. Andrews are urged to come and all friends are very cordially invited to join them, since the service is at an hour which will not conflict with the services in other Montevallo churches. There will be a celebration of Holy Communion. Rev. Robert Y. Marlow and Bishop Murray celebrating with a sermon by Bishop Murray. Friends from other denominations have asked whether communion is open for them. It is open. Closed Communion is not the custom in this church.

Bishop Murray has held his position for only a few months. His election as Bishop was unusual in that he is very young to hold that office, and that he was elected unanimously on the first ballot after his name was proposed. A native of Alabama, and a graduate of the University of Alabama, he served in the United States armed forces as Chaplain, then took charge of the student work of the Episcopal Church at the University. His outstanding success there and his active leadership in student work throughout the diocese are the basis for his selection as Suffragan Bishop. In this capacity he now has charge of student work and mission throughout Alabama.

Regular members of St. Andrews will meet with Bishop Murray for a social hour after the service. The regular 11 o'clock service of Morning Prayer will be held as usual.

Business Women To Hold Dinner Meeting

The regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be held February 16 beginning at 6:30 with a dinner in Reynolds dining room, on the Alabama College campus.

A movie, based on the discovery of antibiotics entitled "And The Earth Shall Give Back Life," will be shown in Comer Auditorium at 7:45 p.m., Mrs. Mary Hood, chairman of the Health and Safety Committee of B.P.W. announced.

The public is cordially invited to attend the showing of the movie.

Hostesses for the dinner include: Mrs. Mildred Doyle, Mrs. Jessie McGaughy, Miss Ethel Marshall, Miss Eloise Booker, and Miss Laura Hadley.

Increase Expected In Measles Cases

Present indications are that this will be a "Measles Year." Measles recurs in epidemics at fairly regular intervals, usually about every four years.

Shelby County already has had quite a number of cases and many more are apt to occur in the late winter and early spring.

The spread of this infection is very difficult to control since the symptoms, during the first few days, are those of a severe "cold" and it is not until the child develops the characteristic eruption on, usually, the 4th day that the parents are aware of its true nature.

Occurring, as it does, at a season when common colds are prevalent, increases the difficulty and by the time the parents realize that the child has Measles already most of its playmates and associates have been exposed.

Usually the respiratory symptoms of early Measles are a little more severe and the fever will probably be higher and the eyes a little more red and congested.

In any case of severe cold the child should be kept at home and isolated for 4 days since, in the case of Measles, it is infectious for 4 days before and 5 days after the rash comes out.

All cases of Measles should be attended by the family doctor since he can make the patient more comfortable and do much to help prevent complications. —Dr. E. F. Sloan, County Health Officer.

Student Finds Broiler Raising Profitable

Charlie Mac Mooney, a second year student in Vocational Agriculture at Thompson, has found that raising broilers can be profitable, as well as an educational experience.

This young Mt. Erie farm boy has just completed marketing the last of 300 birds that he grew to market size in nine weeks. This is Charlie's second house of broilers, and he says that his profit is well above the standard 10 cents per per bird counted on by most large scale growers. He also raised 300 of 301 birds for a very low mortality vote of less than 1 per cent.

Young Mooney believes his success has been due to the purchase of good chicks, good feeding, and proper management and sanitation.

Vocational teacher, Charles Knowles, says that Charlie Mac plans to grow out 1300 birds this year, in addition to other projects of 10 turkeys, 2 hogs, and 1 beef calf.

Heard in a Montgomery filling station: "Fill 'er up." "Going on a trip?" "Nope, just gonna' look for a parking space."

College Night Activities Dominate Interests at Alabama College

It's time again for one of the most exciting all-student productions of the South—College Night.

For the 35th year at Alabama College, the entire student body is divided into two sides—Purples and Golds—to compete with each other in presenting the best musical-dramatic production.

College Night, all-student production, scheduled this year for February 25, 26, and 27, is the culmination of four weeks' creative activity by each side, with students writing, staging, directing, and handling every detail of an original musical-dramatic production.

College Night began as a modest observance of Washington's birthday and has now grown into a three night performance of Broadway proportions. Thousands of visitors come annually to witness the spectacle now staged in Palmer Auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday night nearest Washington's birthdate.

Competition between Purples and Golds runs riot until the decision of out-of-state judges is announced on Saturday night when the Alumna-of-th-year is also introduced, for Homecoming is now a traditional part of College Night activities.

College Night activities on the Montevallo campus are now getting underway with selection of leaders and assistants, and a corps of 22 cabinet members for each side. Cabinet members selected by the Gold Leader, Dolly Brumfield, Prichard, and her assistant, Bobbie Long, Pensacola, Fla., include: Director, Elsie Singley, Greensboro; Art, Sydney Riggs, Cincinnati, Ohio; Anne Oliver, Montgomery; Sue Howe, Monroeville; Writers, Madeline Paepcke, Tuscaloosa; Dora Duncan, Alexander City, Ellen Little, Alexander City.

Staging, Gayle Houston, Fayette; Barbara Bradford, Jasper. Lighting, Jo Fuller, Decatur, Jeffie Mothershed, Birmingham; Costuming, Jean Wheeler, West Point, Ga., Marilyn Bieger, New Orleans, La., and Leah Bonds, Anniston; Typist, Patsy Doyle, Birmingham; Publicity, Gale Little, Alexander City; Make-up, Pat Hornung, Mobile; Properties, Martha Anne Blair, Montgomery; Music, Alice Rainer, and Clarice Rainer, Opp; and Sara Jo Fontaine, Montgomery.

Purple Leader Sue Dobbins, Gadsden, and her assistant leader, Georgia Ruth Gingles, of Greenville, have selected the following students for their cabinet:

Director, June McQueen, Greenville; Artists, Joyce Williams, Huntsville, Phyllis Jones, Montgomery, Shirley Traylor, Childersburg; Writers, Merilyn Jones, Grove Hill, Wyline Thomas, Semmes, Vera Stevens, Montgomery; Staging, Bobbie Lou Gillespie, Warrior, Myrtle Salter, Clawson, Mich.; Lighting, Sue Baughn, Heflin, Hanna Gillion, Greenville.

also instilled in me a healthy respect for our form of government and made clear the need for honest law enforcement.

Having served as a law enforcement officer in this county in the capacity of Deputy Sheriff and as Chief of Police for the Town of Alabaster, I feel I can make a successful race on the fair and unbiased record rendered in connection with my duties as your law enforcement officer.

I shall not make the usual promise to eradicate from our county gambling and intoxicating liquors which has been the political theme of candidates for this office for many years. However, I do pledge as your sheriff I will cooperate with the solicitor's office and all other law enforcement agencies to vigorously enforce the statues of this county and state pertaining to prohibition and lottery laws and at the same time to operate this office efficiently and with competent deputies to the end that all law enforcement of this county will be carried out, and in doing this I am confident every citizen will be proud to be a resident of Shelby County.

This is only possible due to the fact that I am not now nor will I at anytime become obligated, through bribery or otherwise, obligated to any political group, organized gambling or anyone else to the extent that I would be unable to enforce your laws.—Respectfully Submitted: W. P. (Bill) Hill, Candidate for Sheriff of Shelby County, Subject to the Action of the Democratic Primary, May 4, 1954.

On The Farms In Shelby County

The Columbiana Future Farmers have plowed up their well-known Chapel Hill Rescue grass patch to help county farmers with another new and promising grass, Coastal Bermuda.

In cooperation with the North Central Soil Conservation District, the boys have planted 5 acres to Coastal Bermuda grass stolons, in six foot rows. At corn planting time a corn row will be planted in each middle. Grass and corn will be cultivated and fertilized alike, and by mid-summer the grass is expected to cover the ground.

The corn produced is expected to help pay costs of the project the first year, and sale of the stolons will be a continuing project in the future. A local source of fresh, certified stolons will be provided for Shelby County farmers.

Hilary King, Skippy Turner, Willard Ray, and James Nivens are FFA members who are planting individual projects of this grass.

A. W. Baker, Montevallo farmer, and district cooperator, is planting an acre in coastal bermuda. He is one of the last to get planting stock from the SCS nursery at Thorsby. He is planting in 6-foot rows in a thin stand of oats. Chicken manure will be used as a nitrogen source.

Only 3000 lespedeza bicolor plants were planted in three borders in Shelby County this month for quail food production. This was much less than in past years and we hope for increased interest next winter.

To thaw frozen foods quickly, place them in the air stream from an electric fan.

Future Farmers Plan F F A Week

Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation are scheduling special activities to focus public attention on the work of their organization during National FFA Week, February 20-27.

Locally, members of the Montevallo FFA Chapter plan a special assembly program for Feb. 27 and a panel discussion for P.T.A. in March.

Membership in the FFA is made up of farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming.

The Montevallo FFA Chapter has 94 members. Officers are:

President, Paul Wolley; Vice President, R. L. Anthony; Treasurer, Lewey Harkins; Secretary, Johnny Bell; Reporter, Billy J. Holcombe; Sent., Ray Winslett; Asst. James Cummings; Chap., Jimmy Rochester; Adviser, M. Thornton.

M. Thornton, vocational agriculture instructor in Montevallo High School, serves as adviser of the FFA Chapter.

Future Farmers choose the week of George Washington's birthday each year for the observance of National FFA Week. Although generally recognized as a Revolutionary War General and our first president, Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There, he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods. It was more than a century after Washington's death before general use was made of many of the sound agricultural practices that he advocated.

To whiten piano keys, wipe them with milk-dampened cloth.

Always have rinse water the same temperature when washing woolens because the change from warm to cold water shrinks them.

Frozen cooked chicken may be used for chicken salad, creamed chicken, chicken pie, chicken sandwiches, or chicken loaf.

C. C. Brantley Runs For County Sheriff

Mr. C. C. Brantley, of Keystone, is a candidate for sheriff in the Democratic Primary of May 4, in Shelby County. He has resigned his position as Deputy Sheriff in order to be free to devote his time to his campaign for Sheriff. He has had long experience in law enforcement.

His first commission as Deputy Sheriff was under Sheriff J. A. Jackson. He also served as Deputy under Sheriff Claude Fore, and after the death of Sheriff Luther Bozeman he was commissioned by present Sheriff A. E. Norwood.

He is serving his fourth term as Constable of Beat 17 and night watchman for Keystone Lime Works, which position he has held for 28 years.

Mr. Brantley emphasizes a few things he will do if elected Sheriff, among them:

(1) Enforce the laws of the county and apprehend violators and prosecute them. (2) Keep the Sheriff's office open seven days a week. (3) Appoint new and complete personnel in the Sheriff's department from Chief Deputy to jailer. (4) Issue permits to carry a gun to business people who handle money. (5) Appoint a lady as chief clerk in the Sheriff's office.

He says he invites all citizens to give him serious consideration in deciding how they will vote for Sheriff.

Fowler Runs For Circuit Solicitor

This week Conrad M. Fowler, of Columbiana, is announcing his candidacy for Solicitor of the 18th Judicial Circuit. This Circuit includes Clay, Coosa and Shelby Counties. Fowler has served as Solicitor of this Circuit since January 24, 1953 on which date he was appointed by the Governor to fill the unexpired term of A. L. Hardegree who took office as Judge of the 18th Circuit on January 20.

Fowler is 35 years old. He was born and raised in Shelby County. He is married and he and Mrs. Fowler are the parents of two boys. He holds a BS and an LLB degree from the University of Alabama. During World War II he served for 5 and one-half years in the Marine Corps. One-half of this time was spent overseas. Fowler practiced law in Columbiana for five years before undertaking to serve as Solicitor in 1953.

Below is a statement given to this paper by Fowler.

"I believe in effective law enforcement. Proper law enforcement requires that County and State law enforcement agencies, the Courts and the Solicitor's office work in harmony and cooperation. It is my opinion that criminal laws should be enforced fairly and impartially with respect to those charged with crime and also the State of Alabama; that the Solicitor's office and the jurors have the duty of treating all defendants with equal consideration; and that the question of whether or not a defendant's past record is such that he is entitled the 'mercy of the law' is a matter vested by law in the discretion of the Court.

"During my year of service I have become familiar with the law enforcement problems existing in our Circuit. I shall be glad to discuss these problems with any group upon invitation. If permitted by the voters to serve as Circuit Solicitor I shall continue to work for the effective enforcement of our laws against crime."

Abbott Seeks Re-election As Tax Collector

We see no use in "swapping horses" when we have got one as good as Clarence Abbott.

Selden Protests Gas Rate Increase

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15—Rep. Armistead Selden, along with other members of the Alabama Delegation, appeared today before the Federal Power Commission to protest the Southern Natural Gas Company's petition for increased rates in a number of Alabama cities.

Many cities in the Sixth District, including Columbiana, Montevallo, and Calera in Shelby County, will be forced to pay higher rates for natural gas service if the FPC approves the company's request.

In a joint statement, Rep. Selden and the members of the Alabama Congressional Delegation pointed out that any increase at this time might result in an undue and unreasonable burden upon the cities, towns and customers, both industrial and domestic, which would be affected by the proposed gas rate increases. They said such an increase might endanger the financial structure and soundness of the municipal systems and gas distribution systems of the various cities involved. They urged the FPC to give earnest and diligent consideration to the issue in the light of public interest.

A decision will be rendered by the Federal Power Commission at a later date.

Alabama Public School System Marks One-Hundredth Anniversary

Today marks the one hundredth birthday of Alabama's public school system. On February 15, 1854, Governor J. A. Winston signed the measure which gave Alabama its first statewide tax-supported system of schools. Despite its wobbly financial basis and its weak superstructure, it was a notable beginning.

The men mostly responsible for the public school act of 1854 were Senator Robert M. Patton of Lauderdale, and House members Alexander B. Meek of Mobile, and J. L. M. Curry of Talladega. The principal object of the bill was to find funds for maintaining the schools. The Act authorized, but did not command, school taxes. It did appropriate some hundred thousand dollars which was derived from taxes. In this way local financial help was encouraged. The Act also provided for a state superintendent of education; three school commissioners from each county, one of whom was the judge of probate; and three trustees in each district. There was no county superintendent, the general supervision of schools being assigned to the three commissioners. These officers had control of all money and provided housing facilities and libraries. Counties were authorized to levy a special tax not to exceed ten cents on each one hundred dollar evaluation.

Actually, public education at the local level had its beginning in Mobile in 1826 when the Legislature authorized that county to set up and regulate schools. Under this Act Barton Academy was established in 1836, being Alabama's first public school. The experiment, however, was only partially effective, since at times it was necessary to operate the Academy as a private school to keep it going. In such difficulties did the Mobile trustees find themselves that at one time its was proposed to sell Barton Academy at auction. This proposal was vigorously voted down.

The first superintendent of education was William F. Perry, who was selected by the legislature. His report for the year 1854-55 showed 145,588 pupils enrolled between the ages 5 and 18 years. This represented about 52 percent of the total school population. Approximately $1.33 was available for each pupil. Students were roughly classified into four classes, the highest class including such subjects as English, grammar, composition, history, the natural sciences, bookkeeping, physiology, and the constitution.

AAUW To Hear Attorney

The February meeting of A. A. U. W. will be held at 7:0 Tuesday, February 23, in Reynolds dining room. Miss Sue Stokes, Gadsden attorney, will speak on "Women's Rights in Alabama." Hostesses will be Misses Anne Eastman, Ibbie Jones, Ethel Reasoner and Mrs. Irene Hamric.

Montevallo Host to County Tourney

Montevallo plays host to the Shelby County senior basketball tournament Feb. 18, 19 and 20 in which five senior high schools, Calera, Columbiana, Thompson, Vincent and Montevallo, will be represented.

Coumbiana, strong tournament favorite, takes on Montevallo, defending champions, in the first round Thursday night at 8. Other teams drew byes in the first round.

On Friday night Vincent and Calera play at 7, and Thompson High of Siluria meets the winner of the Columbiana-Montevallo game at 8.

Finals and the consolation game will be played Saturday night beginning at 7.

The fast-breaking, high-scoring Columbianians and the "tall men" from Calera are co-favorites in the tournament; however, Thompson High, having defeated every team in the county once, could be a potential dark horse.

Salute to FFA

February 20-27 is "National FFA Week" and will be celebrated by members of the Future Farmers of America across the nation.

Here in Alabama 252 active chapters in high schools in 66 of the 67 counties will take part in the festivities. Their celebrations will take different forms in the various communities. Some chapters will put on special radio programs, chapel programs, hold banquets and other socials. We are fortunate to have one of the best FFA chapters in Alabama right here in Montevallo.

Born to fill a specific need, FFA has grown from an organization of 30,000 farm boys in 1929 to over 363,000 today. It is recognized as the world's largest farm boy organization. FFA had its birth in 1928.

The FFA is an intra-curricular activity having its origin and root in a definite part of the school curriculum-vocational agriculture. Among other things, members learn through active participation, how to conduct and take part in public meeting; to speak in public; to buy and sell cooperatively; to solve their own problems; finance themselves; and to assume civic responsibility. The foundation upon which the Future Farmers of America organization is built, includes leadership and character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, service, thrift, scholarship, improved agriculture, organized recreation, citizenship and patriotism.

FFA is an integral part of the program of vocational education in agriculture in the public school system. Improved agriculture, better local communities, a more satisfying farm home life, and more efficient farmer-citizens are developing as a result of the boys' experiences in FFA.

We join in the salute to FFA. Here we have seen one of the most active clubs in Alabama at work for several years under the direction of Mr. M. Thornton. The contribution which FFA has made to this area is proof of the merit of this organization.

4-H Girls Learn to Cook, Make Lamps

The Elementary 4-H girls are learning how to make plain muffins at the February 4-H meeting. These muffins served hot with butter make a delicious bread for breakfast, lunch or supper.

The Elementary girls enrolled in foods projects will enter the club baking contests that are to be held at the March 4-H meeting. Each girl will bring three muffins to the meeting. The texture, flavor and appearance, will determine the winner. The club winner will participate in the county baking contest at Columbiana on April 17.

The Junior and Senior 4-H girls are learning the principles of making rolls at the February meeting. To complete her foods project, each girl must enter the baking contest. Texture, flavor and appearance will also be used to judge the rolls. The Club roll making winner will compete in the county baking contest.

The girls with the best muffins and rolls will be named as the county baking contest winner.

Better Light for Home Study

Shelby County 4-H girls plan to provide better light for home study. Mr. Wallace Weaver, Alabama Power Company Rural Engineer, gave a demonstration on making lamps last Saturday.

The importance of a good study lamp was stressed. The inside of the shade should be white so that it will reflect the light. The outside of the shade should be a color that will blend with the color scheme of the room. The lamp sould be at a height, so that you will be no more than 30 inches away from the bulb when reading.

4-H girls learned the proper method for tying an electrician's knot in wiring a plug and socket. After each girl had wired a cord, they were given a bulb to test their workmanship.

The various equipment needed to make and assemble a lamp was demonstrated. Unassembled lamps were purchased by the girls to take home and complete.

This workshop was in preparation for the 4-H lamp contest to be held at the March club meeting. Those attending the workshop were Marjorie Browne, Linda Denty and Dr. Jean Clark, Vincent Elementary; Gay Clark, Helen Harrison, Columbiana Elementary; Miss Barbara Horn, teacher sponsor, Chelsea; and Mrs. Wallace Weaver.

Columbiana Home Club Learns to Make Lamps

When is a lamp not a lamp? Why, when it is still a jar, or a bottle, a roll of venetian screen wire, or even a spare table leg!

This was the conclusion of the Columbiana Home Demonstration Club after it met at the home of Mrs. D. R. Spearman, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Thelma Vincent brought to the group many ideas for converting everyday items to lovely and practical lamps. She also taught the ladies to assemble lamps bought in kit form, and to make lamps safe through proper wiring of sockets and plugs.

Shelby County Home Demonstration Agent, Marion Cotney, recently held a leadership training school on this subject with Miss A. Peavy from Auburn conducting. The Columbiana club was represented by Mrs. Vincent, Mrs. Eunice Jones, and Mrs. George C. Starcher, club president.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Many property owners who sold lands along the Warrior and Tombigbee Rivers to the federal government in connection with the construction of the Demopolis Lock and Dam were not allowed to retain the mineral rights to these lands. If Congress passes the special legislation I introduced last Friday in the House, the former owners will be allowed to repurchase their mineral rights if they so desire.

When the Demopolis Lock and Dam is completed, many thousand acres of land—most of it in the Sixth District—will be covered with water. For this reason, the Corps of Engineers has for more than a year been purchasing outright or acquiring easements on certain property along the Warrior and Tombigbee Rivers.

The original policy of the Corps of Engineers was to block out the property to be acquired whereby a large acreage, other than that actually flooded, would be purchased outright by the federal government. This policy was modified last year and, as a result, less land was bought in fee simple and flowage easements were obtained on the remainder.

According to the latest figures released by the Corps of Engineers, 17,963 acres have been or will be purchased by the federal government in fee simple. Flowage easements will be obtained on approximately 70,000 acres.

When the Corps of Engineers first began buying the lands, they did not allow the property owners to reserve mineral rights. Abou 15,349 acres were purchased while such policy was in effect. In October 1953 this policy was also modified and the owners of the remaining 2614 acres were permitted to retain their mineral rights.

This created an unfair situation. Naturally, most of the property owners had wanted to reserve their mineral rights, but only a few had been allowed to do so. When asked if these mineral rights could be repurchased by the former owners, the Corps of Engineers found they were not allowed to sell without authorization. This authorization requires the special legislation which I have introduced in the House.

My bill will correct this inequity by allowing the repurchase of these mineral rights within a three year period. It will be necessary for the owners to pay a purchase price equal to the fair market value of the mineral interests as determined by the Secretary of the Interior. The bill stipulates that uranium, thorium and other fissionable materials considered vital to national defense cannot be resold to the former owners of the land.

Data on Members

During my travels throughout the Sixth District, I have been asked on numerous occasions whether or not I am the youngest member of Congress. Although I have given a negative answer to this question, I have been unable to tell those who inquired just how many are younger. Since that time, I have had the opportunity to see some statistics on the ages of members of Congress which I though might interest you.

There are nine members of Congress who are younger than I, all of them members of the House of Representatives. The youngest of these is Rep. William C. Wampler of Virginia who is just 27. The ages of the other eight range from 29 to 32.

The two oldest members of the House are Rep. Robert Crosser (D-Ohio), who has served since 1913 (except for a period of four years), and Rep. Brent Spence (D-Ky.) who was elected to Congress in 1931. Both are 79 years old. There are four other Representatives who are 78.

Rep. Sam Rayburn is the member of the 83rd Congress who has the distinction of serving the longest consecutive period of time. He was elected in 1913 at the age of 31 and has served since without interruption. This Texas Democrat also has the distinction of serving longer as Speaker of the House than any other member in our country's history. With the election of a Republican House in November 1952, it was necessary for Rep. Rayburn to temporarily relinquish his gavel.

In the Senate, the youngest member is 35-year-old Russell Long of Louisiana who was elected when he was 30, the minimum age for a U. S. Senator. The oldest member of the Senate is Theodore Green (D-R.I.) who is still very active at 86 years of age. A former governor, Sen. Green started his service in 1937. It should be pointed out, however, that the ranking Democrat in the Senate is not Green but 76 year old Walter George, a Democrat from Georgia who was first elected in 1922.

Another question often asked me is, "What did most of the Congressmen do before their service in the House or Senate?" A majority of the members are lawyers. The next largest group includes those previously engaged in civil service, banking or business. There are a number of former teachers and several from the fields of agriculture and journalism. Five members of the medical profession are serving in Congress, as well as 10 engineers and two dentists.

On The Farms In Shelby County

W. C. Martin has what is probably the first terraced field in Shelby County that has no short or point rows. At least, he will have when five terraces laid out by SCS men are completed.

Planned and staked out on a five acre field lying beside an established meadow outlet this is an example of the new parellel terrace system.

This Montevallo farmer will have 22 thirty inch rows for close grown crops or 18 three and one-half foot cotton or corn rows in each terrace interval, with no short or point rows.

Parallel terraces will require a more generous use of meadow outlets (which Mr. Martin firmly believes in) and possibly including some sericea or grass planted areas where small critical slopes, very steep slopes or slopes varying very much from the general slope or pitch of the field being terraced.

Better erosion control and ease of cultivation are benefits Mr. Martin and SCS engineers believe will more than offset removing these small strips from row crop.

Navy Department Seeks Civilian Stenographers

Miss Patricia Monahan, Navy Department civilian representative, will be located at the Navy Recruiting Station, Room 33, Post Office Building in Birmingham for several weeks to accept applications for stenographic civilian positions with the Department of Navy in Washington, D. C.

Miss Monahan will test and interview from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays thru Friadys. Special appointments for Saturdays or other times may be arranged by calling 4-1741 and asking for the civilian Navy representative.

General requirements include a typing speed of forty words a minute and the ability to take shorthand at eighty words a minute. Applicants must at least have reached their 18th birthday within six months.

Beginning salaries range from $246 to $264 a month. Appointees earn 13 days paid vacation a year in addition to sick leave and automatic annual salary increases. The Navy Department will make reservations for immediate housing as well as assist in locating suitable permanent housing.

Even though there has been an over-all curtailment of government employment, qualified stenographers are in a shortage category, and the supply is not likely to meet the demand for some years to come, Miss Monahan said.

Barbara Barclay Observes Birthday With Party

Barbara Ann Barclay celebrated her 7th birthday with a party at school for all of her friends. Many children ride the bus and can't attend home parties. Barbara baked 40 cupcakes in colored baking cups and a tiny 2 layer cake with seven candles, and iced them in green.

The teacher, Mrs. Virginia Sims, and all of the children were amazed that Barbara baked and iced her own birthday cakes! "Today is Wed., Feb. 3, 1954. Today is Barbara's birthday. She is 7 years old," was the theme for all activities for the day. Barbara closed her eyes while the children drew her surprise birthday pictures and presented her with them. Pasted on the blackboard was a huge colored cake with 7 candles.

A large place mat with "Barbara" on it was at the head table. Barbara helped set the tables and the children all enjoyed a delicious, unusual mid morning lunch and wished they had a party every day.

Home Economics Class Gives Beauty Treatments For Tired Furniture

Members of the Home Economics II Housing Class have been busy for the past two weeks giving some of their own "tired furniture" a beauty treatment.

At the beginning of their study of furniture renovation each girl brought a peice of furniture from home to refinish. Minwax seemed to be a very popular finish with the girls in the class because it is so easy to apply and dries so quickly. Nellie Ruth Carlee and Evelyn Oglesby used it on the end tables which they refinished. Jade Higgins, Jean Johnson, Joyce Lou Wilson, Carleen Lind and Virginia Horton refinished larger tables with this as a finish. Clara Young found that it worked well on her chair which she refinised. Jackie Jernigan used paint on her night stand. Eloise Mitchell used varnish on her dining chair and Annette Hooper also used this finish on the vanity bench which she refinished and reupholstered.

The girls learned that there are three main steps in refinishing:

The first step is to remove the old finish. A commercial paint and varnish remover is considered better than a lye solution to use in removing the old finish because lye may burn and roughen the wood and might injure the new finish.

The second step is that of preparing the wood for the finish. This step is very important because the beauty of the final finish is dependent upon how well this is done. Such processes as the removal of dents, bruises, and spots, filling small holes, gluing joints and sanding are included in this second step. Great care should be used in sanding. It is important to rub with the grain of the wood to prevent scratching it. After sanding a piece of furniture it is necessary to go over it with a lintless cloth moistened with mineral spirits or some other cleaning fluid to remove all dust particles before the new finish is applied.

The third step is that of applying the new finish. The girls who refinished their furniture with minwax found that it was easy to apply by just rubbing it on with a cloth. They used several coats of paste wax plus minwax to obtain the finish which they desired. Hot oil and wax could have been used as a finish. Those who used varnish found it much more difficult to apply than the minwax. The most important things to remember in applying varnish are:

Be sure that the surface which is to be varnished is free from dust; Use a perfectly clean brush; Use varnish which is free from dirt and skin particles; Apply in a dust free room; Allow plenty of time for drying before sanding and applying the second coat.

The girls are proud of their furniture which will be on display in the window of the Ben Franklin Store during this week, Feb. 10-15.

Homemakers To Choose Miss FHA

On February 10, the Montevallo Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met at the home economics department for a regular monthly meeting. The president, Anita Bradley, called the meeting to order. The current business which was discussed included plans for the monthly meeting in Siluria on Feb. 24 and plans for a program which is to be presented by the F.H.A. and F.F.A. groups at the March meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association.

The main buiness of this meeting was to nominate girls for Miss F.H.A. The following girls were nominated: Jade Higgins, Sigrid Lund, Mary Catherine Cox, Doris Cunningham, Bobbie Dee Galloway, Beverly Doyle, Gayle Jones, and Ouida Byrd.

Qualifications for Miss F.H.A. are the same throughout the state and include:

Active participation in F.H.A.; Skill in homemaking; Attractive appearance; Pleasing personality; Maintaining high ideals; Making passing grades.

The Montevallo Miss F.H.A. will be selected on the basis of these traits, at the next regular P.T.A. meeting on March 8.

Plans are being made to present degrees in the near future to those beginning F.H.A. members who are working on the Junior Degree.

Mrs. Johnson Is Honored With Shower and Tea

Mrs. L. O. Robinson and Mrs. A. W. Day entertained with a stork shower and tea in honor of Mrs. E. C. Johnson (Leola Harden) Tuesday, Feb. 9, at the home of Mrs. Robinson.

A color scheme of yellow and green with arrangements of yellow and white flowers was used throughout the house for the 2:30 to 4:30 party.

Assisting the hostesses in receiving were Mrs. A. R. Luckie and Mrs. Lloyd Harris, who registered the guests in the baby book. The honoree greeted guests from her chair of honor, decorated in the party colors and bearing the inscription, "Lady In Waiting."

After the group enjoyed a round of games, Mrs. Johnson opened the many gifts presented her in a beautifully decorated baby carriage rolled in by her daughter, Mona.

A tempting dessert course and punch were served by the hostesses. Twenty-five guests enjoyed this lovely affair.

Strong tea diluted with a little water makes an excellent antique-like stain for pine wood; when dry, cover with two thin coats of fresh white shellac and then wax.

Liberty National Insurance Co. Has Year of Record Growth During 1953

Frank P. Samford, President of Liberty National Life Insurance Company, in reporting to the stockholders of the company at their annual meeting commented at length on the continued growth of the company. He pointed out that the total resources as of December 31, 1953 amounted to over $143,000,000 making the company one of the largest of its kind in the entire Southeast. The resources at the end of 1953 were about $17,500,000 greater than at the end of the previous year.

He also reported with pride the continued confidence being expressed in the company by the insuring public. He stated the insurance in force at the end of 1953 had increased during the year by $57,000,000 to approximately $880,000,000 at the end of the year.

In his report to the stockholders, President Samford emphasized the strong financial position of the company as represented by its capital and surplus of over $14,000,000 which amount represents a cushion of safety over and above the legal reserves as required by law.

Attention was called to the detailed financial statement of the company, a copy of which will be found in this paper. The stockholders were advised that the publication of this financial statement was being dedicated this year to the field men of Liberty National Life Insurance Company who are, in great measure, responsible for the outstanding record being made by the company. Mr. Samford stated he was extremely proud of the field representatives who are trained to carefully survey the needs of their insurance clients and are in a position to make available to all the many forms of protection offered by the company.

Liberty National Life Insurance Company conducts a life insurance and mortgage loan business in 14 states and has policyowners residing in every state of the nation and in several foreign countries. The annual meeting was held in the auditorium of the home office building in Birmingham, Alabama on Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1954, at 3 p.m. at which time the officers and directors for the ensuing year were elected. It was confidently predicted that 1954 would be an even better year than 1953.

P. T. Martin Runs For Committee

M. P. T. Martin, former resident of Montevallo, now living at Demopolis, was here Monday. He is a candidate for Member of the State Democratic Executive Committee in the Sixth District, and was beating the bushes for votes.

Mr. Martin lived here several years, engaged in the insurance business. He took an active part in community affairs. He was Commander of the local post of the American Legion for two years in which capacity he became well-known to everybody around here. His record in Legion activities was outstanding in many respects.

When the local draft board was set up for World War II, he was a member of the board for quite a while.

A few years ago, Mr. Martin gave up the insurance business and located near Demopolis where he is engaged in business.

"I want all my friends and acquaintances around Montevallo and this vicinity to know that I am a candidate for Member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and that I will appreciate your support in the Primary Election May 4," he said.

Treasury Assigns Local Bond Quota

Roy Downs, Chairman of the Shelby County Savings Bonds Committee, has announced that the Secretary of the Treasury has assigned a quota of $130,000 in Series E and H Savings Bonds to our county for 1954.

Mr. Downs also announced that the county invested $10,932.25 in these Bonds during the first month this year.

The total quota assigned to the State of Alabama is $48,800,000.

Mr. Downs said, "We have a choice of two fine investments: the Series E Bond with interest accumulating, and the Series H current income bond paying interest semi-annually by U. S. Treasury check. These are companion bonds and pay interest at the rate of 3 percent, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity.

"While the Savings Bonds program is not new, it is even more vital to our economy today than when it was originated. As has been indicated many times by Secretary Humphrey, the establishment and maintenance of sound money requires a wider distribution of the public debt. This means more Savings Bonds in the hands of our citizens.

"We should all renew our desires to become shareholders of the Government by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds," the Chairman said, in his appeal to the citizens of our county to take a greater hand in securing a sound dollar. "This is the foundation of economic strength in our great land."

Ford's New Ball-Joint Suspension gives you the Newest Ride on the Road!

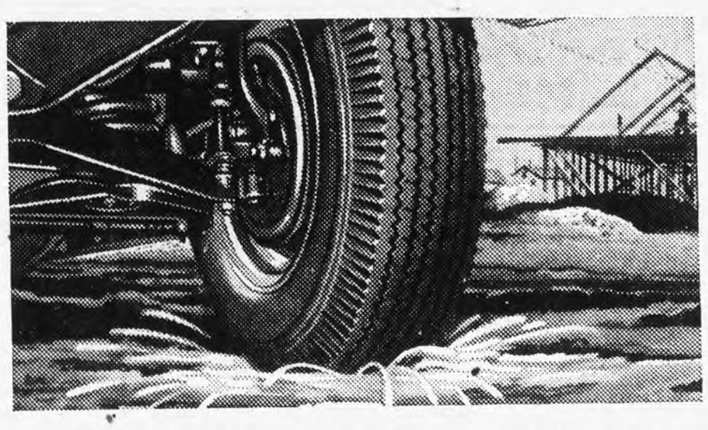
This revolutionary new Ford front suspension soaks up road shock before it reaches you! Makes all riding and handling easier!



Seals out dirt. You can forget road splash because dirt and water can't get into the ball joints in Ford's new front suspension. Each of the four joints is effectively sealed by a unique rubber-and-metal shield. This means that contact surfaces of each ball and socket remain clean—wear is kept to a minimum.

Keeps that new-car feel. You'll enjoy Ford's new-car feel much longer because ball joints are spring-loaded to compensate automatically for any wear. Front wheels hold alignment far longer than with conventional systems. Ball joints can't stick or bind. Steering remains consistently easy.

THE "OLD" ROADS won't seem the same with Ford's new Ball-Joint Suspension "paving" the way for you. You'll enjoy a softer, more level ride because Ford's new system allows greater shock absorbing movement of the front wheels. Handling is far better, too. That's because conventional kingpins have been replaced by simple, sealed ball joints that won't stick or bind. No other car in Ford's field can equal Ford's ride—because no other has Ball-Joint Suspension.

Agile new performance, too, is yours in a '54 Ford . . . whether you choose Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or 115-h.p. I-block Six. And no matter which of Ford's 28 new models you choose you enjoy recognized style leadership—with clean, modern lines . . . sparkling new colors . . . and harmonizing upholstery fabrics and trim.

Eliminates 12 wear points. Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension eliminates 12 of 16 points of wear found in conventional systems. Rubber-bushed supports at inner ends of suspension control arms reduce the number of wear points and insulate chassis from road noises.

We cordially invite you to Test Drive a

Methodist Ladies Hear Missionary

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Montevallo Methodist Church, entertained with a luncheon at the Church, Saturday, Feb. 13, in honor of Miss Clara Bartling, a medical missionary, on leave from her post in Mozambique, Africa.

Lunch was served, buffet style, at 12 noon in the dining room of the Church. Dr. M. E. Lazenby and Dr. O. K. Lamb were guests, also, during lunch.

At 1:30, Miss Bartling talked to the group about her work in Mozambique, Africa, as a medical missionary. She has served there for 15 years and her talk showed the love and devotion which she has put into those 15 years of service. She showed beautiful pictures of the hospital, schools, scenes and personnel connected with her work at Mozambique.

Evidence of the interest, manifested by the group, was expressed by the countless questions asked her, all of which she most graciously answered.

She is studying at Scarrett College in Nashville, Tenn., and plans to return to Africa some time in March, depending on when she can book passage, following her completion of work at Scarrett.

The group found by questioning her, that there were things needed in her work, that they could do, such as send medical bandages, towels, bath rags, baby clothes, and diapers, and plans are under way to get a box to her before she sails, in order that she may carry it back with her.

Several women came at 1:30 for Miss Bartling's talk, who were not at the luncheon, and everyone who heard her felt that they were inspired to do more to help in the work of the WSCS under whose auspices Miss Bartling's work is done.

Mrs. L. C. Parnell, Mrs. A. W. Vaughan and Mrs. Kate Cook, have been corresponding with Miss Bartling for several years, and she was a guest in each of their homes while she was here.

The members of the Montevallo WSCS are indebted to these three women for giving them the rare opportunity to hear their missionary friend talk, informally, of her work and experiences in serving the sick, in the name of Jesus Christ, in darkest Africa.

Valentine Dance Features Selection Of Queen, Floor Show, Dancing

Orchids to the Band Boosters for the Valentine Party Saturday night! It was successful in every respect, and proved an excellent exhibit of what our high school band can do. Although the parents who form the booster club, pitched in and really helped where needed, most of the planning and organization was done by the band members themselves.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated in valentine motif. Unusual floor shows, the selection of a Queen of Hearts, music by the swing band, and dancing for everybody provided an evening of delightful entertainment for the large group attending.

Mary Thornton served as Master of Ceremonies. The floor shows consisted of an exhibition by the majorettes—Harriet Kendrick, Martha Jane Mahaffey, Mary Katherine Cox, Marcia Trumbauer, Fay Tillery, Darvin Roden, and Frances Klotzman. It was followed by a tap dance number by Becky Harris, Doris Jones, Amy Orr, Libba Ackerly, and Judy Brooks. Lovely Lea Roden danced a beautiful ballet number, and Klarien Burchfield gave a circus-worthy stunt exhibition. There was a song by Frankie Lucas, and hillbilly music by Tommie Greer and Preston Cates.

Nine beautiful girls gave the judges a real job in selecting the Queen of Hearts. The decision was announced in the leadout. Stepping through the streamers of a big red valentine came the Queen's court—Bobbie Dee Galloway, escorted by Johnny Bell, Anita Flynt, by Tinker Underwood, Darvin Roden, by Bobbie Wilson, Jade Higgins, by Louis Cardenas, Fay Tillery, by Paul Woolley, and Mary Katherine Hicks, by Milton Jeter.

The court was followed by the Queen's attendants (runners-up in the contest)—Beverly Doyle, escorted by R. W. Lawley and Marcia Trumbauer, escorted by Billie Wilson. The Queen, Ouida Byrd, was escorted by Donald Ray Bunn, who placed the crown on her head and presented her with a bouquet of red carnations.

The last special feature was a jitterbug dance competition, won by Marcia Trumbauer and Billie Wilson who then led the bunny hop for a block long train of hoppers.

The real community participation and general spirit of fun made the party a treat for everyone. Calls for encores are already coming. Let's boost the band.

The Montevallo F. F. A. chapter was established in 1948 with a beginning enrollment of 62 boys of the community. Each year since that time the boys coming into F.F.A. and vocational agriculture have been on the increase until at this time 84 boys are regularly enrolled in the classes and 94 boys maintain membership in the local chapter. Last year the Montevallo chapter was one of 18 chapters in the U. S. to receive a bronze award based on the overall accomplishments of the chapter which had resulted from a definitely planned program of work. The chapter is holding 4th place among the 252 units in Alabama.

Among the many planned activities of the local chapter, those taking priority have been items placed in the program to promote leadership, citizenship, and to help raise the economic status of members and others of the area. Because of the planned annual activity program the chapter has been successful in placing with F.F.A. boys over 25 registered gilts, two registered hereford bulls, four heifer calves, and over 400 fruit trees have been planted in demonstration orchards. The members have studied landscaping, plant propagation, poultry production, swine production, gardening, dairying and beef production. In all these enterprises we have been able to see some of the successful operations of our community and to aid in many new enterprises being established.

The entire membership is taught cooperation through working with practically every agency designed for helping the general welfare. Among the agencies and institutions included in the planned program are: Town Recreation Board, Rotary Club, Study Club, S.C.S. Services, Extension Service and Farm Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, Local Business Firms, and other chapters and schools.

The Montevallo F.F.A. boys have landscaped 10 homes in the community. They have set over 10,000 pine trees in demonstrations. They have helped in planning and executing plans with three individual farmers. One of these projects was in dairying, one in poultry and one in poultry processing.

Through the help of Lovelady Motor Co., Montevallo Motor Co., and Shaw Motor Co., the chapter has been able to keep a truck in operation which has helped to execute many of the plans in our activity program.

Learning to do; Doing to earn; Earning to live; Living to serve is the motto of the F.F.A. Serving —that others may live—has been added by our chapter.

Shelby county F.F.A. has a theme for the year 1954 "Safety Education for Teen Agers." Montevallo boys are interested in this too and we have had two educational films on safety and plan for a part of the chapel program the 27th to promote this phase of the program.

M. Thornton is advisor of the local chapter and has been in vocational agriculture and F.F.A. work since 1933. Last year he was one of the eight in Alabama to receive a gold key for 20 years service from the National Chain Store Council.

Although vocational agriculture was originally planned as a special course only for farm boys, our Montevallo unit has worked with boys from all occupational groups. During recent years the number of workers required for our farming operations has become fewer and fewer until about 16 percent of our total employed personnel are farmers. This indicates a greater demand for efficient farmers and farm helpers. F.F.A. boys have concluded that one entering farming has a highly competitive field. He is not only competing with the other farmers but also competing against the efficiency of their labor and machines.

FFA Member Reports on Agricultural Projects

By Billy Joe Pickett

As my first year project in vocational agriculture, I received one of the chapter OIC gilts and raised a litter of 8 pigs. I returned one to the chapter and sold some of the others. In the shop I have built some book cases and a nice magazine rack. For a short while I worked at the College Dairy and also did some farm work at Cruse Crawford's farm. My shop projects also included laying concrete blocks and helping to build a wall and a barbecue pit for Mr. C. G. Sharp. This is my third year in FFA and I am now employed at Wilson Drug Co.

Since I helped with the Coca-Cola concession at football games, it has helped me with the work I do at Wilson Drug Co. During last year I was on the trip to Gainsville, Ga., and had a look into the big broiler industry. My class work has included planning for some class projects and helping with homecoming. The FFA has meant much to me although I have not had an opportunity to follow much of it up on a farm. I enjoy the FFA and look forward to greater things for our members. (Billy Joe is the son of Joe Pickett of Pea Ridge and grandson of S. P. Harrell.)

FFA Chapters Promote Home and Traffic Safety

By Paul Woolley
(Local F.F.A. President)

This year our FFA chapter along with all other chapters in the county are pushing a drive for safety. Have you ever thought you might be safer in the armed services than at home? Before you form your opinion let us see how many ways you can become an accident victim in 1954. If you live on the farm you are exposed to many dangers you may not be aware of. Each year there are many that meet death at a fatal accident on tractors. Tractors can be a safe machine if you handle it with care, watching soft shoulders, turning corners to fast or trying to pull to much load. Each year on the farm the bull, who is supposed to be gentle, takes his toll of victims. Other machines such as power saws, mowers, discs and so forth, may take arms, legs and lives of people.

In the house the baby may pull a pot of hot water on himself, which may cause serious injury. When you start down to breakfast and step on Junior's roller skates you may end up with a broken leg, arm, or maybe a broken neck.

Then we come to the most fatal place, our highways. Let us look back to the year 1952. There were 37,600 deaths and 2,090,000 injuries, of which 609,410 were caused by people speeding. Also 274,080 pedestrians met their death, jay walking was one of the main causes. You may not know it, but three-fourths happened on a clear dry day and nine-tenths of the automobiles were in good condition. The most dangerous day of the week to drive is Saturday. Now you may see why the FFA is stressing safety in our town.

We hope to help cut down on the 38,000 killed in highway accidents and the 1,350,000 injured last year. During this year we have had a visit by one of the state men from the Department of Public Safety and have also studied some of the latest educational films on safety.

We are looking to 1954-55 with great hopes for some relief to this terrible slaughter. —Paul Woolley, FFA President.

Farm Jobs Held by FFA Chapter Member

By C. D. Galloway
(Special FFA Correspondent)

How would you like to feed 7,500 chickens every morning? Well, Joe Anderson, member of the Montevallo FFA, has this to do every morning before coming to school.

This is only one of the many jobs Joe holds down on his father's farm, wich is located 2 miles north of Calera. They have eight laying houses, two of these are equipped with new automatic feeders, and all have an automatic watering system. On the average day Joe usually collects around 3,000 of the eggs.

Joe not only raises chickens but has approximately 70 pigs as well as a few calves. On top of all his work at home, Joe is an active participant in school athletics. His favorites are basketball and baseball. He has been an outstanding member of the Montevallo chapter of the FFA for the last three years. He is now in his last year as an FFA student.

This is a story of just one of the Montevallo FFA boys. That leaves 93 more, each boy has a separate story about his farm program. Work like this has made the Montevallo chapter one of the foremost in the state and nation.

FFA Boys Conduct Tree Spraying Project

By Bill White and Bobby Bunn
Community Service Committee

FFA boys are spraying trees for the public. Bobby Bunn and Bill White have started a real business and plan to stay with it. Because of damage from insects and diseases in the past, farmers have found it profitable to spray in order to control some of the pests and diseases. Bobby and Billy have learned that many farmers neglect their spraying operations and they have also found that they can find many trees to spray for which they charge a small fee. During the last two weeks they have sprayed a total of 77 trees for different people. They have sprayed for Mr. John Foshee, Mr. J. W. Street, Miss Leacy Newell, Mr. Ellis Hoffman, Mr. L. Prestige, Mr. S. H. Hurt and have several other orchards booked. Should you be interested in this service you may reach Billy or Bobby by phoning 6792 any week day between 10:15 and 11:00.

History of FFA

1. The Future Farmers of America is the national organization, of, by, and for farm boys studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools which operate under the provisions of the National Vocational Education Acts. It is an educational, non-profit, non-political farm youth organization of voluntary membership, designed to develop agriculture leadership, character, thrift, scholarship, cooperation, citizenship, and patriotism. Boys must be enrolled in vocational agriculture to become eligible for membership. They may retain their membership for three years following their graduation from high school, or until they are 21 years of age.

2. The State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture in Alabama, J. C. Cannon, who has offices with the State Department of Education in Montgomery, is the State FHA Adviser. Mr. T. L. Faulkner located at Auburn is the Executive Secretary of the Alabama FFA Association. The chapter adviser of each local unit is the high school teacher of vocational agriculture.

3. The National FFA organization was launched at Kansas City, Missouri, in November, 1928, following many years of development of vocational agriculture student organizations in the States and local communities.

4. Alabama has 12,051 active FFA members in 252 chapters in 66 of the State's 67 counties. The national organization has 363,369 active members in about 8,500 local chapters located in farming areas throughout the 48 states, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. FFA is recognized as the largest farm boy organization in the world.

5. Through participating experiences in the Future Farmers of America, members learn how to take part in meetings, to follow parliamentary procedure, to speak in public, and to cooperate with their fellow students in programs for individual and community betterment. Local chapters sponsor recreational activities, socials, and community campaigns.

6. Many FFA activities are designed to stimulate the boys to do better work in vocational agriculture. The advancement through degrees in the organization is based largely on achievement in farming. Awards offered through the FFA for outstanding achievement in such fields as farm mechanics, electrification, soil and water management, dairy farming, and farm safety stimulate increased effort by the students. Chapters operate pig chains to help members get started; pool their funds to make quantity purchases of seeds, fertilizers, and other supplies. Judging contests build interest in learning the points of livestock and poultry selection; fairs and livestock shows build up enthusiasm for raising top quality products. Many chapters own one or more high quality sires for use of members and others of the community in improving the quality of their livestock. FFA members are active in dairy herd improvement associations, livestock breeders' associations' crop improvement associations, and other similar organizations working for improved agriculture.

7. Each State Association and each Local FFA Chapter elects officers annually.

8. Business and industry in the United States gives its wholehearted support to vocational agriculture and the FFA. The Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc., which budgeted more than $140,000 for awards in 1953, is supported by annual cash donations from some 300 business firms. The donors give their funds "without string attached" and the Foundation program is administered by a Board of Trustees composed entirely of men who are active in the vocational agriculture program.

The FFA Motto:

"Learning to do,
Doing to learn;
Earning to live,
Living to serve."

Learning To Do—(As vocational agriculture students in high school Future Farmers study the practical, scientific principles of agriculture that will enable them to become good farmers.)

Doing To Learn—(Each member is required to conduct a farming program at home, under the supervision of his vocational agriculture instructor where he puts into actual practice methods he learned in the classroom.)

Earning To Live—(The supervised farming program at home is designed to operate at a profit so that the Future Farmer may expand his farming enterprises as he learns, to the end that he will be successfully established in farming and become a self-supporting, substantial citizen.)

Living To Serve—(Development of competent, aggressive rural leadership and citizenship is a primary of the FFA. Practical experiences in parliamentary procedure, committee work, and conducting other business of an organization are provided through regular chapter meetings.)

Much can be learned about the organization by taking a look at the first line of the FFA Creed which states, "I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds..."

The animal kingdom strikes back.—A 20 pound salmon lunged at William Haryat of Duncan, B.C., who was trying to land it, drove the hook through the fisherman's finger, sent him to the hospital. Two hunters, Col. Louis Murphy and Ralph Slocombe, went to hospitals in Barnstable, England, with wounds suffered when a dog stepped on the trigger of a double barrelled shotgun, shooting them both.

High scorer for the game was Vincent's All-County Center Sorrell, who tossed in 20 points. Mitchell, another All-County selection, led Shelby scorers with 18 points.

The consolation championship went to Calera, a 31-25 winner over Thompson of Siluria in that division's title game.

Of the 15 retail categories in Alabama, only four reported sales above a year ago.

In Shelby County, retail sales showed a 1.3 per cent decrease from November 1952 to November 1953.

Statewide, filling stations showed the largest gain (six per cent), while lumber and building materials and drug stores reported an increase of four per cent and one per cent, respectively.

The most significant decreases were found in general merchandise (10 per cent), clothing (nine per cent), furniture (nine per cent), food (seven per cent), and eating places (five per cent).

Report from Washington

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Although the only legislation passed by the House last week was the Treasury and Post Office Departments Appropriation bill, the week itself was a very busy one.

Monday included two appearances before the Federal Power Commission in behalf of a number of Sixth District communities, as well as a dinner meeting with representatives of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation. My appearances before the FPC were made to protest a gas company's request for increased rates and to urge approval of Maplesville's application for a larger allocation of natural gas.

On Tuesday morning I attended a meeting of the Veterans Affairs Committee where the Committee members heard Wayne E. Richards, National Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, present his organization's legislative program. The House met most of Tuesday afternoon, and that evening I went with other members of the Alabama Delegation to the annual VFW Dinner for Members of Congress. On this occasion Gen. Mark Clark was presented with the VFW's Annual Omar Bradley Gold Medal for distinguished service in the field of national security.

Another Committee meeting started my day on Wednesday. Following it, I joined other Alabama Congressmen at the Pentagon to discuss with Secretary of the Army Stevens the possibility of future uses for Camp Rucker which is scheduled to close in June. A session of the House occupied the remainder of the day.

At noon Thursday I had the pleasure of meeting with a group of Business and Professional Women's Club members who were in Washington to attend the White House Conference on Highway Safety. Our District was ably represented by Mrs. Ann Lovelady of Tuscaloosa. That afternoon the House met and passed the appropri-bill for the Treasury and Post Office Departments for fiscal 1955. The House-approved measure includes funds in the amount of $3,333,241,600 to finance these two departments.

Friday morning I appeared before the Civil Functions Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee to urge an appropriation of $2 million for construction of the Warrior Lock and Dam. Immediately following this appearance, I met with a number of Alabama School Administrators to discuss with them the Alabama Education Association's legislative program. The Sixth District was represented in this group by Dr. Kermit Johnson, Superintendent of the Tuscaloosa County Schools.

In addition to committee meetings, House sessions, and meeting with representatievs of various with representatives of various sary to devote a part of each day (or night) to studying a variety of proposed legislation and to answering mail.

Pentagon Larger Than Empire State

While I was at the Pentagon last week, I made some inquiries about this famous structure. The information I obtained was so interesting, I thought I would include some of it in this week's column. As you know, the Pentagon is the nerve center of our defense operations. At its peak during World War II, it housed nearly 33,000 workers—the average working population of a city of 100,000.

I was particularly impressed to learn that the Pentagon is three times the size of the Empire State Building and one and one-half the size of Chicago's enormous Merchandise Mart. Overlooking the Potomac River, the gigantic building covers 34 acres. It is comprised of five floors, two basements, five concentric rings, and 17 and one-half miles of corridors. The structure contains ten spoke-like main corridors and five pie-shaped sections. I think perhaps the best way to emphasize its enormous size is to point out that the National Capitol would fit into any one of the building's five pie-shaped sections.

In the Pentagon one finds a variety of facilities that give the building the appearance of a regular city. There are round-the-clock feeding facilities, complete banking service, medical and dental clinics, post office, credit union office, barber shop, shoe repair shop, jewelry store, dry cleaning and laundry shop, book store, railway and airline ticket service, and pastry shop. In fact, the Pentagon has everything in the way of "downtown" facilities except for a theatre and grocery store.

There are a number of dining rooms, cafeterias and snack bars in the Pentagon which serve an average of 18,000 meals and 32,000 short orders daily. This is believed to be the largest single food serving operation in the entire world. Pentagon workers consume an average of 30,000 cups of coffee per day, in addition to over 7500 pints of milk and more than 4000 soft drinks. The food operations are self-supporting, and there is no food cost borne by the government.

There are two other almost unbelieveable facts about the Pentagon which should be mentioned. It contains more than 28,000 miles of telephone wires, and 10 tons of baled waste paper are collected every 24 hours in the building. This scrap paper is sold for about $75,000 yearly.

After visiting the Pentagon, one immediately wonders about the cost of such a structure. It was interesting to learn that its cost was only slightly more than half the cost of a first class battleship.

Cub Scouts Den 2 Meets With Bill Garrett

The Cub Scouts of Den 2 Pack 59 met last Thursday, Feb. 18, at the home of Wolf Cub Bill Bob Garrett. The meeting was opened with the singing of "America" and then the boys repeated the Cub Scout Promise. Mrs. Arthur Garrett, Den Mother, reported she had written to Benny Carl asking for a time about the middle of May when the Pack could visit the Western Theatre. This statement was met with a howl of delight from all the boys.

Plans were discussed for the Pack banquet to be held at the Montevallo Methodist Church on Saturday, Feb. 20, and since the Cub Scout colors are blue and gold, the cubs made small books with blue backs and yellow pages put together with a yellow ribbon bow. These were used as place cards for the banquet Saturday night.

Wolf Cub Guy Milford reported that he had earned a silver arrow point. Bear Cub Ernest Blankenship reported that he had earned a silver arrow point and Bear Cub Robert Eddings had earned a gold arrow point.

After refreshments were served the meeting was dismissed with the Grand Howl; after which an hour of games was enjoyed by those present: Robert Eddings, Jimmy Eddings, Bob Bearden, Ernest Blankenship, Guy Milford, and Bill Bob Garrett. The next meeting is to be February 26 at the home of Wolf Cub Bill Bob Garrett.

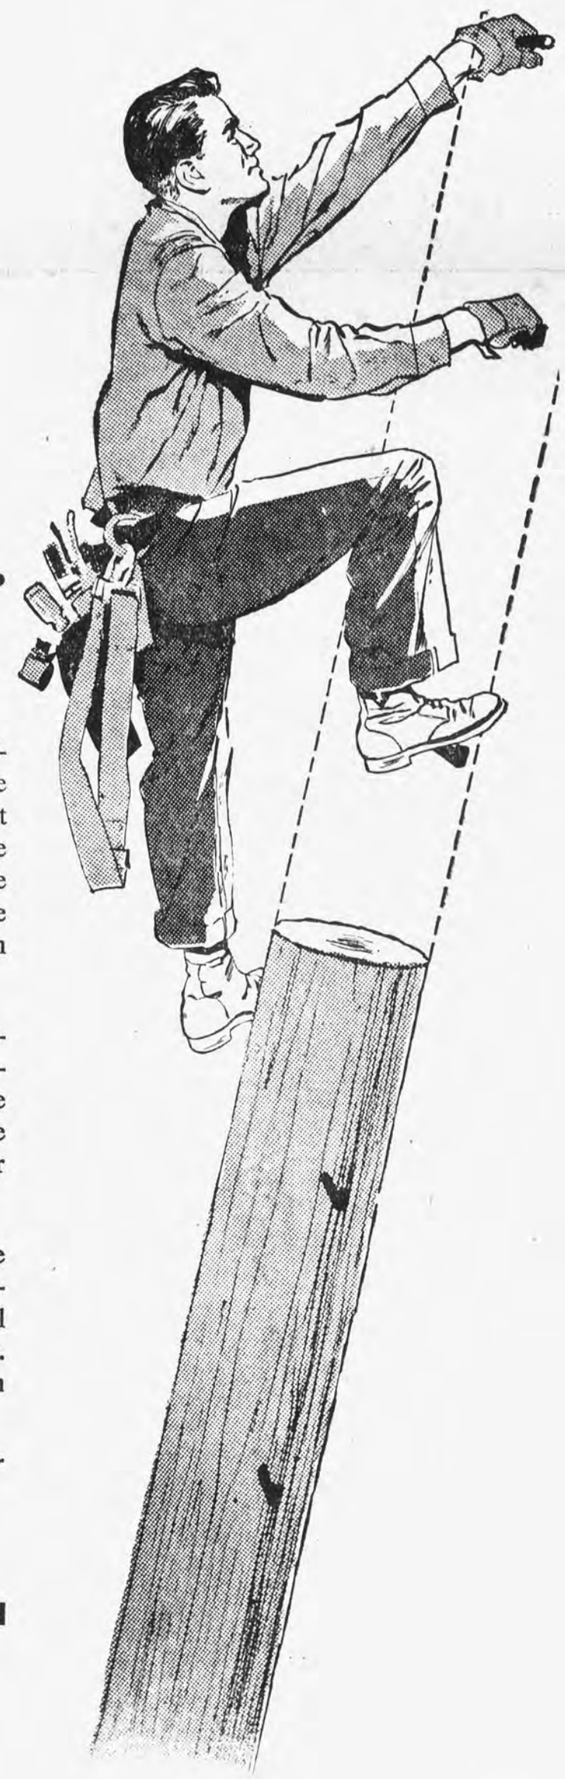
Climbing Problem...



Here's a real problem in climbing. Actually, telephone poles must still be the same height, but today you can buy only about two-fifths of an average size pole for the price of one 15 years ago. So every time we replace an old pole or add a new one we have to spend more than twice as much as in 1939.

This is just one example of what climbing costs have done to the telephone business. The cost of furnishing telephone service has increased more than the price we get for it. And prices of almost all other commodities have gone up much more.

Southern Bell wants telephone service to be as good and as low priced as possible. At the same time we hope you will understand what inflation has done to us. We believe you are willing for us to earn a fair profit.

Battle Attacks Sparkman's Record

Congresman Laurie C. Battle lashed out at Senator John Sparkman in a statewide radio campaign speech Tuesday night, charging Sparkman with "carrying water on both shoulders" on civil rights legislation and the Taft-Hartley Act.

Battle accused Sparkman with having voted both for and against the Taft-Hartley Act and supporting civil rights legislation in his campaign for Vice-President, while assuring Alabamians that he favored segregation.

"Propaganda from Washington about our comparative records in Congress has been inaccurate and misleading", Battle said. "It is a complete falsification to say that our stand is alike on civil rights. I have never said one thing in Alabama, something else north of the Mason-Dixon line. During the Vice-Presidential campaign, John Sparkman went up north and convinced the people who were for breaking down segregation in our schools and elsewhere that he was with them. Then he turned around and tried to satisfy the people of Alabama that he really was for segregation. Sparkman not only helped write the 1952 civil rights plank in the Democratic platform, but he stood on it and ran on it from here to California."

Charging Sparkman with having voted on both sides of the Taft-Hartley Act, Battle challenged his opponent "to tell labor, management and the public how he stands on the Act today. This is the number one labor-management issue of the generation, and the people of our state are entitled to know how Sparkman stands on it."

Congresman Battle discussed the benefits of the Battle Act, which prevented war materials from being shipped to Russia and allied nations; and concluded his address with the declaration that, "America must have leaders who are strong, steadfast and direct... leaders who do not carry water on both shoulders. It is my purpose to help provide that leadership in Alabama."

Construction of Fire Station, Jail Completed

Construction of the Fire House and Jail addition to the Montevallo City Hall has been completed at a cost of $13,000.00. The structure has been completed and paid for out of the current general fund of the city without going in debt for it.

Provision is made in the new building for keeping the fire truck and all fire fighting equipment. Special apparatus for taking care of fire hose has been provided which will insure longer life for hose and prevent the necessity of frequent replacement.

Modern up-to-date jail facilities are provided for both white and colored prisoners.

The new building has already been turned over to the City by Hallmark & Son, the contractors, and is now in use.

Public Supports Cancer Crusade

Increasing public interest in the fight to conquer cancer is being shown through public support in the form of memorial gifts, according to Mrs. Howard Hall, Shelby County commander of the American Cancer Society.

She expressed appreciation for gifts of this kind and said they are helping to carry on the society's program of education, research and service.

The Ameircan Cancer Society, is the only agency approved by the Medical Association of Alabama for its program of education, research and service, in the control of cancer.

Many persons make contributions to the American Cancer Society as a means of expressing sympathy in the death of a friend or relatives, and as a token of tribute and respect upon other occasions.

Contributions of this kind should be directed to the county commander of the American Cancer Society and are credited to this county by the Alabama division of ACS, it was pointed out.

The American Cancer Society carries on a continuous program of research at five Alabama cancer research projects, including the Medical College of Alabama, Southern Research Institute and the Tumor Registry, Birmingham; Alabama Polytechnic Institute, of Auburn, and Tuskegee Institute, of Tuskegee.

The cancer society also seeks to alert the public to the danger signals of cancer and helps to supply the needs of medically indigent cancer patients.

We agree with the Arkansas Gazette in connection with the recent charges that special privileges have been given Draftee David Schine, former Joe McCarthy investigator. I knew that McCarthy might be able to scare the army high brass, but I didn't think anybody on earth could scare an army top sergeant.

Did you ever hear about the labor union head who loves to tell fairy stories to his kids and he always starts off, "Once upon a time—and a half."

Be it further resolved that a copy of these Resolutions be sent to his family, a copy to the County papers, (Reporter and Times) and a copy be spread upon the official minutes of the Shelby County Farm Bureau Organization.

In Memory of Mr. Stonecypher

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom called from our midst Mr. W. S. Stonecypher, who at the time of his passing, was the oldest member of our Board of Directors of Farm Bureau both in age and from years of membership, and,

Whereas, Mr. Stonecypher participated actively and faithfully with a keen interest in the whole program of Farm Bureau, and,

Whereas, he was esteemed and beloved not only as a member of this Board but also as a citizen and business man.

Whereas, in his passing we feel that the loss of the influence, sound counsel, which was eagerly sought and appreciated, will be held in grateful remembrance.

Therefore be it resolved that with deep sympathy to his ever faithful and devoted wife, children, and friends, we express our hope that even so great a loss to all of us may be over ruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy to the County papers (Reporter and Times) and a copy be spread upon the official minutes of the Board of Directors of the Farm Bureau Organization of Shelby County.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted by Board of Directors of the Shelby County Farm Bureau on January 22, 1954.—Respectively submitted by Mrs. J. Frank Baker, Resolutions Committee.

On The Farms In Shelby County

H. J. Nick, owning a farm just south of Highway 25 at Briarfield, became a district cooperator Saturday, Feb. 20, when he spent the morning with his friend, A. W. Baker, Conservationist Hatchett, planning development of the farm. This farm will be planted in crops suited to the particular soils and slopes of the different fields.

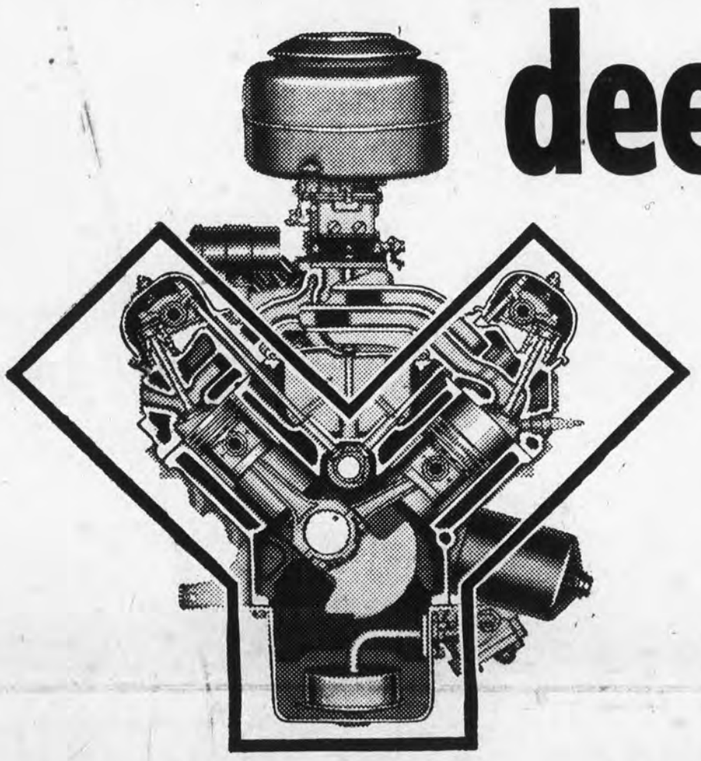
Mr. Nick likes the results Mr. Baker has had with conservation methods on his Moore's Crossroads farm, and became a district cooperator for this reason.

He also has asked for SCS design for a small stock and fish pond.

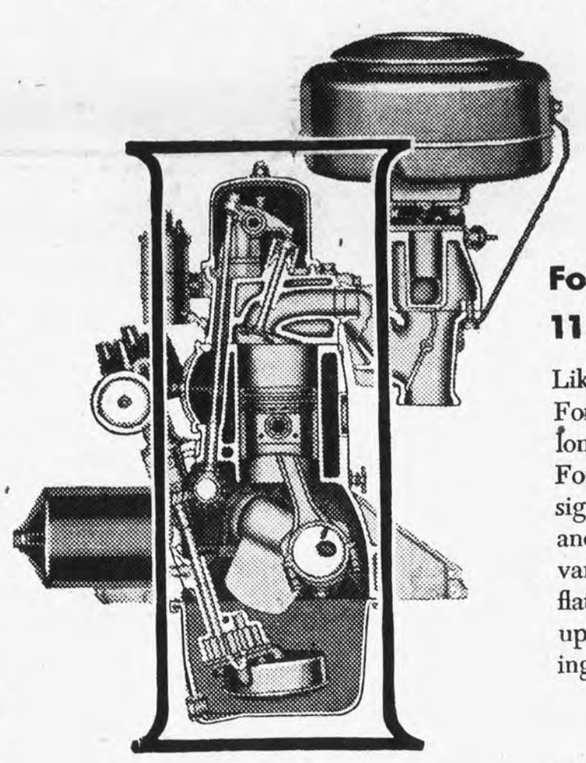
J. H. Edwards, his neighbor on the West, is following a district conservation plan on his farm. With his own bulldozer, he is clearing and levelling washed away hills for soil and water conserving sericea and other sod crops.

One thing about it, the Russians will never come to Montgomery. They could never find a place to park.

Ford presents two new deep-block engines



They're the industry's most modern engines with free-turning Overhead Valves and integral valve guides . . . high-compression, low-friction design . . . and extra deep-skirted crankcases. Both engines are designed for long life with smooth, economical performance.



Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8

This brand new Overhead-Valve V-8 has an extra-deep block which resembles a "Y" in cross-section. This new deep-block design means greater rigidity for smoother, quieter performance . . . longer engine life. Other features which make this engine a long-lived, smooth, savingful performer are: new low-friction (short-stroke) design, Free-Turning Overhead Valves, new 5-bearing crankshaft, and new high-turbulence combustion chambers.

Ford's new 115-h.p. I-block SIX

Like the new Y-block V-8, this engine has Ford's deep-block design for greater rigidity, longer engine life. Also, like the V-8, you get Ford's modern manifolding, low-friction design, high-turbulence combustion chambers, and Ford's Automatic Power Pilot. One advantage of both new engines is an amazingly flat "torque curve" which gives you top pick-up power through the whole range of driving speeds.

Cub Scouts Receive Awards at Banquet

The regular monthly pack meeting of Cub Scout Pack 59, took the form of a banquet Saturday night, February 20, at 6 p.m. The celebration was held in the dining room of the Montevallo Methodist Church. The Cub Scout colors are blue and gold. The tables were colorfully decorated with blue plates, and saucers and yellow cups, blue and yellow napkins were used. Several vases filled with yellow jonquils and pom-pom chrysanthemums interspread with blue hyacinths and Japanese iris decorated the long banquet tables thus further carrying out the Cub colors. Each den made their own place cards: Den 1 had a tiny upright bear cub, Den 2 had small Cub scout books with blue backs and yellow pages fastened together with a yellow ribbon and Den 3 had a technicolor picture of a Cub scout uniform in the corner of their place cards.

Mr. John Mader, Cub Master, presided at the speaker's table as Master of Ceremonies. Miss Dottie Bounds, of Alabama College, gave a most interesting reading entitled "The Littlest Storks." Mr. Mader reported several of our cubs had attended the court of honor held recently in Siluria. Mrs. Garrett, Den mother of Den 2, reported she had written to Benny Carl, of Western Theatre fame, asking for a time about the middle of May when the three Montevallo Dens could appear on the TV program.

After the dinner, Mr. Mader called the parents and the subs forward who had earned awards and presented the following:

Den 1, Buddy Scott, a Wolf Badge; Den 2, Guy Milford, a Silver Arrow Point under his Wolf Badge; Ernest Blankenship, also earned a silver arrow point under his Bear Badge; Den 3, Ricky Miller, a Wolf Badge. The next pack meeting is to be held Saturday, March 27, at the Cub Scout Hut. There are eighteen boys in the pack. The Den Mothers are Den 1, Mrs. Minnie Lou Warnke, Mrs. Jimmy Wyatt, of Spring Creek; Den 2, Mrs. Arthur Garrett, Mrs. Huey Bearden; Den 3, Mrs. Wyman Brown and Mrs. Sam Sims.

MONTEVALLO CALERA

Miss Helen Hood and Lieutenant Reinhold Marry at Fort Walton, Fla.

Miss Helen Sullivan Hood became the bride of Ernest Gilford Reinhold in a late afternoon military wedding on Friday, Feb. 12, at St. Simmons-on-the-Sound, Episcopal Church, at Ft. Walton, Fla.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pierce Hood of Montevallo, Ala. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ernest Reinhold of Miami Shores, Miami, Fla., are the bridegroom's parents.

Mr. Reinhold, a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, received his Master's Degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is now stationed at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where he is serving as a 1st Lieutenant.

Miss Hood attended Alabama College at Montevallo, graduated from the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, and received her Master's Degree from Florida State University at Tallahassee, Fla. She is art consultant at Eglin Air Force Base School, Fla.

Greenery and carnations marked every other pew of the church while branch candelabra with cathedral candles, white baskets and altar vases of white flowers formed the altar decorations for the 5:30 double-ring vows read by the Rev. Johnson Hagood Pace.

Schubert's "Ave Maria" was rendered by Mrs. Harold Toney, organist.

Given in marriage by Col. William C. Hood, Jr., the bride wore a ballerina length white dress of French silk with fingertip veil attached to a feather cap. Her slippers, of matching white, were ornamented with Dresden China flower clips, and she carried a bouquet of lavendar and white orchids, with pink carnations on ostrich feathers.

Mrs. William C. Hood, Jr., of Shalimar, Fla., matron of honor, wore a dress of pink lace over taffeta. Miss Dorothy Reinhold, sister of the bridegroom, of Miami Shores, Miami, Fla., was bridesmaid and wore aqua lace over taffeta. Blue and white iris on pink ostrich feathers formed their identical bouquets.

The bridegroom had Dale T. Kincaid, of Chicago, Ill., as his best man. Ushers were Lt. Jack Weir, of Athens, Texas; Lt. Robert J. Cassidy, of Kansas City, Kansas; Lt. Robert Vogel, of Baltimore, Md., and Lt. Richard Parkhurst of Camden, N. J.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Hood, wore a pink lace dress and Mrs. Reinhold, mother of the bridegroom, was in ice blue faille. Their corsages were white orchids.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and parties which followed were Mrs. E. P. Hood, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Parnell from Montevallo, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reinhold and Miss Dorothy Reinhold from Miami Shores, Miami, Fla.

Assisting at the reception in the Parish House were Mrs. Harry Buchannon, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Nathan Reed, Mrs. Robert Wright, and Mrs. Robert Whittaker.

The tables, decorated with pink candles and flower arrangements, were covered with Army-Navy lace cloths brought from Japan by Mrs. Ralph Canter. A sabre, belonging to Brig. Gen. Daniel S. Campbell, was used by the bride and groom to cut the four tiered wedding cake decorated with pink and lavendar spun sugar flowers which centered the bride's table.

Following a cocktail party at which Col. and Mrs. Hood entertained the wedding party and out of town guests at their home in Shalimar, the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip to New Orlean, La. For traveling, Mrs. Reinhold wore navy blue linen with white accessories.

The remaining wedding party and visitors were dinner guests of Col. and Mrs. Hood at the Officers' Club at Eglin Air Force Base that evening.

Until Lt. Reinhold has completed his tour of duty, the young couple will be at Eglin Field, Fla.

Stunt Night Is Planned at Calera

There seems to be a lot of whispering in little groups at Calera High School lately. Some people may wonder about this, but all of the students know the reason. Stunt Night is coming up soon.

The Junior Class has divided the school up into the Blues and the Golds much as was don last year. The leaders chosen from each side are: Blue leaders—Hugh Tomlin and Carolyn Sample and the Gold leaders are Fred Sims and Rosemary Tortorigi.

Both sides have been hard at work to produce plays and other numbers that can be judged as better than the other when the judges make their decision. It is a known fact that the Blues won last year and are trying hard to win again this year. It is also a known fact that the Golds have other ideas about who will win. They are planning to upset the plans of the Blues. No one can tell who will come out on top, so why don't you come out and cheer us on.

Don't forget STUNT NIGHT, Calera High School, Thursday, March 11, 7:30 p.m. The admission prices will be 50 and 25 cents.

Purples Win In College Night

"It's a fact!"

"The decision of the judges is in favor of the Purples."

With those words Alice Jane White, president of the Student Government Association at Alabama College, made the announcement that made it a Purple College Night. This year's victory for the Purples broke the Gold's three-year winning streak.

Presenting "It's a Fact," the Purples production depicted life as it would be "if we were born with a world of information."

June McQueen was director for the winning Purple side. Outstanding actresses included Edna Jackson, who played the King; Dot Floyd, snaggle-toothed page to the King; Eddy Caldwell, Chancellor for the law-making body, the Council of Youngers; and Mary Louise Rice, Marigold.

Leading the Purples to victory were Sue Dobbins and Georgie Gingles. Gold leaders were Dolly Brumfield and Bobbie Long. Alice Jane White, mistress of ceremonies, introduced the College Night leaders before the presentations.

Elsie Singley directed the Gold production, "Double Dilemma." The show poked fun at the modern-day housewife, a devotee to the world of television and electronic housework.

Persons Will Not Take Part In Governor's Race

Governor Gordon Persons has issued the following statement in connection with the current Alabama gubernatorial race:

"It has been very pleasing to this administration that several of the candidates for governor have requested our active support.

"However, I have always felt that an outgoing governor should not, in any way, attempt to dictate or influence the election of his successor. I just don't believe the power of the governor's office should be so used.

"For this reason I do not intend to take any part whatsoever in the coming campaign for governor. My department heads join me in making this statement.

"We have always welcomed constructive criticism. However, I do want it clearly understood that any inaccurate or untrue statements made by any candidate or his supporters, concerning my administration will be promptly answered by presenting the true facts."

KARL HARRISON UNOPPOSED FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Hon. Karl C. Harrison is running for re-election as Shelby County's Representative in the Legislature of Alabama. He has no opposition.

The fact that Mr. Harrison will go back to Montgomery as our Representative in the next Legislature without opposition is conclusive evidence of the satisfactory manner in which he has heretofore served the people of Shelby County and the State of Alabama in the councils and deliberations of our law-making body.

Having served in both the Senate and House of Representatives, Mr. Harrison has achieved a record of state-wide recognition as well as unanimous approval of his home folks.

In the present administration he is one of the floor leaders in the House of Representatives. His ability and experience will automatically gain for him a top-most place in affairs at Montgomery during the next four years.

Homecoming Features Naming of Dining Hall and Class Reunions

Alabama College's 56th annual homecoming ceremonies held this weekend featured the naming of one of the school's dining rooms; four major class reunions; the naming of the Alumna of the year; and installation of a new national alumna president.

Official unveiling ceremonies of the name, Anna Irvin Hall, now placed above the college's dining room door, were held immediately following the homecoming luncheon Saturday. Dr. F. E. Lund, President of the college, introduced Senator Tom Phillips and Representative Karl Harrison, the two legislators credited with passage of a joint resolution in the 1953 legislature which authorized the naming of the hall.

Actual unveiling of the plate was performed by Mrs. Roswell Falkenberry of Selma, an alumna and member of the College's Board of Trustees. The building is named for Miss Anna Irvin, who served as College Dietitian from 1920 to 1952.

Highlighting class reunion activities were special reunions for the classes of 1904, 1929, 1944, and 1949. Alumnae class presidents in attendance were Mrs. R. E. Thomas, Greensboro; Mrs. A. M. Tipton, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Miss Frances Rush, Bessemer; Mrs. W. T. Ogletree, Tallassee; and Mrs. Ray Campbell, Crestview, Fla.

Presented as honor guest of the Alumnae Association at its homecoming luncheon was Miss Frances Nungester, Decatur, Alabama College's Alumna of the Year. A former president of Alabama Education Association, Miss Nungester is now president of the American Association of University Women. She is principal of one of Decatur's elementary schools. She was presented to the audiences at each of the College Night performances.

New officers of the Alumnae Association were installed. They are Mrs. J. R. Williams, Selma, president; Mrs. Kermit Mathison, Greensboro, vice president; Miss Eloise Lee, Montevallo, secretary and Miss Ethel Harris, Montevallo, treasurer.

Miss Irvin Thanks College Alumnae

One of the special features of Homecoming at Alabama College this year was the unveiling of the name, Anna Irvin Hall, above the college dining room. The ceremony was held following the Homecoming luncheon on Saturday, Feb. 28.

Mrs. John Albrecht of Selma, outgoing president of the national Alumnae Association, read the following letter from Miss Irvin:

To the Alumnae of Alabama College—One and All:

How I wish I were able to be with you today. I am sure if I had fully realized how I would enjoy it, I would have returned to Alabama instead of far-away, sunny Florida, beautiful as it is.

It is a great mystery to me why you think I deserve the great honor you give me today. I know it is mostly due to the cooperation of my associates all these years who worked with me—

with malice from none
and
charity from all.

The four presidents, three business managers, faculty members, alumnae, my good assistants, patient students, Jesse and his faithful helpers, the local farmers, food companies of Montevallo, Birmingham, Montgomery, and other places—all of these gave me constant help, and I thank them all.

I think it is wonderful to have my name on a building dedicated to the daily use of happy young people.

How can I ever feel old, regardless of my years? How can I ever feel unhappy?

Thanking you all, dear alumnae, again and again.

Sincerely,

ANNA IRVIN

A DIXIE BELLE DISPLAYS ALABAMA'S NEW 1955 "HEART OF DIXIE" CAR LICENSE TAG. Miss Betty Lane, of Montgomery, is shown attaching one of the sample tags which Alabama cars will be sporting after Oct. 1. Green and white is the color scheme for the new plates, which Gov. Gordon Persons said was selected to give emphasis to the idea of keeping Alabama green—with forest fire prevention and proper planting. State Revenue Commissioner Joe M. Edwards said that an order has been placed for 900,000 pairs of the tags. The heart encloses the county designation. The newly-designed tags were authorized by the 1951 Alabama legislature.

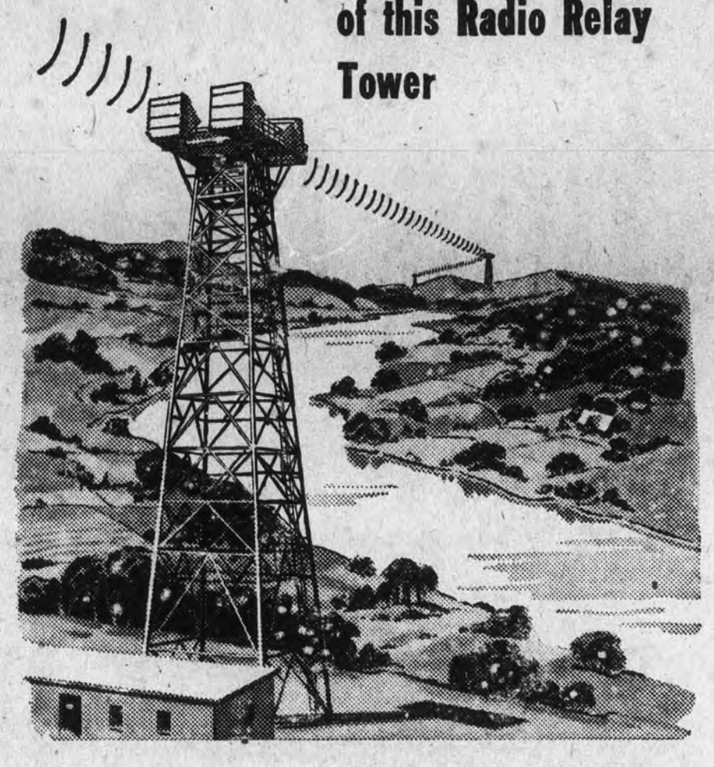
What You Don't See

from the top of this Radio Relay Tower



You see a familiar scene — a peaceful, prosperous Southern countryside.

What you don't see is the miracle of microwaves. Yet the miracle is there.

By means of microwaves, radio relay speeds Long Distance telephone calls and television programs through space without wires. It can carry hundreds of calls at one time.

Advances like radio relay are the work of telephone scientists and engineers, who are always seeking and finding better ways for us to serve you. But it takes more than this. To get investors to supply the money to continue expanding and improving telephone service requires a fair profit on the money invested in telephone property.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Shortly after we reconvened, the House Ways and Means Committee recommended that municipal housing authority bonds and state and local industrial development bonds be taxed by the federal government. This action, taken by the Ways and Means Committee in executive or closed session, brought a storm of protest from municipal, county, and state officials from all over the country. The Alabama League of Municipalities, for example, immediately announced their unalterable opposition to the committee's action. The League, through its able executive director, Ed Reid, made the following observations:

(1) The interest on state and local government bonds and other securities has always been exempted from federal income tax. The recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee to tax industrial and housing bonds could very well be the first step towards the taxation of all state and local bond issues.

(2) The proposed tax on the interest from housing and industrial bonds would unquestionably raise the interest rates on such issues at least one-third, thereby working a terrific financial hardship on the municipal governments and through them upon the people who populate the local communities.

(3) The tax on industrial bonds is an attempt by Eastern interests to curb the industrial progress and future growth of Alabama and other states.

Committee Reconsiders Action

These and other objections that came in from all over the United States soon reached the members of the Ways and Means Committee. Shortly thereafter, the committee reconsidered its previous action and abandoned entirely its plan to tax the interest on local housing bonds.

The committee also threw out its plan to tax the interest on certain types of state and local industrial development bonds, but substituted another proposal. Under the committee's new plan, municipalities can still issue tax exempt bonds. But, the business firms benefitting from them cannot deduct rent and lease payments as a business expense, which they are permitted to do under existing law.

Danger in New Proposal

Although in different form, this new proposal still constitutes an effort by Eastern interests to slow, if not stop, the movement of industry to Alabama and the South. Industries are unlikely to occupy buildings for which they pay rent, if they are not allowed to deduct the rent from their income tax. Therefore, if this particular recommendation of the House Weys and Means Committee is enacted into law, the efforts of many of our Alabama towns and cities to secure new industry will be greatly hampered, if not entirely blocked.

Under rules of the House, amendments to tax bills are not allowed. For this reason, it will be impossible for the members of the House to eliminate this particular recommendation if it is included as part of the General Tax Revision bill. However, it can be removed by Senate amendment, and I am sure every effort will be made by Alabama's two senators, as well as by all of our southern senators, to see that this is done.

M-Sgt. Amos F. Lucas Has Military Career in Three Armed Services

Stuttgart, Germany—Referred to as "The Judge" by his more intimate friends in an affectionate sort of way is the JAG Chief Clerk of the District, M-Sgt. Amos F. Lucas.

Lucas was born in Wilton, Ala. He attended high school in Montevallo and shortly after graduation went to Missouri where he attended Chillicothe Business College. There he spent 2 and one-half years working on his Bachelor of Science degree.

After business college he held the position of Chief Clerk for the FBI in the States of Tennessee and Mississippi. He attended law school in the evenings with the Jackson School of Law at Millsap University.

After obtaining a couple of years credits with the University, Lucas went to South America with the Legal Attache which was then under the jurisdiction of the American Embassy with headquarters at Lima, Peru.

With the Attache the sergeant traveled through South and Central America including Chile, Cuba, Panama, Ecuador, Bolivia, Costa Rica, Honduras, and Guatemala. In 1943 he returned to the States. After resigning with the government, in the spring of 1944 he enlisted in the U. S. Navy at Kansas City, Mo.

After boot training at Couer d'Alene, Id., Lucas was assigned to the battleship Iowa at San Francisco. By September of the same year they had joined Task Force 38.5 under the leadership of Admiral "Bull" Halsey.

M-SGT. AMOS F. LUCAS

In Naval operations during World War II, Task Force 38.5 played a leading role. Often referred to as the "elite of the Navy," it made sweep in the Pacific Theater of Operations.

With the Task Force Lucas saw action at Guam, the Phillipines, Marshal Islands, Saipan, Okinawa and Japan. His assignment aboard ship for the most part was personal Yeoman for Adm. Denfelt, who is now retired.

As the point system was introduced, Lucas, lacking about two more weeks service for the set quota lay around doing nothing, just waiting in eager anticipation for that day. Finally he volunteered for a short two-week cruise on the hospital ship U.S.S. Hope—it was several months later when he returned. Finally in May of 1946 he was discharged and returned home.

From 1947 to 1948 Lucas was employed by Montgomery Ward as a Division Merchandiser—in that he was the procurement officer for one of their districts covering four states—Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and the eastern parts of South and North Dakota.

In 1948 he left Wards to go with Remington Rand and there he devised procedures for use of punch-card filing systems. He also instructed operators in the use of Remington Rand equipment and systems. There too, he planned and designed inventory, stock and production control systems.

Back Again

As 1951 rolled around with the Korean Police Action at its peak, at Kansas City, Lucas, who since 1946 continued his military career as a Reservist in the Army, was called back to active duty. He then joined the 407 Engineer Combat Battalion at Fort Campbell, Ky. In December of 1952 he came to Europe on occupation duty and was assigned to his present job in the District.

With not enough time left he extended to bring his family over thereby giving them a chance to see Europe. In the not too distant future, however, he looks forward to his return to Kansas City with his wife Wilma and two boys, Paul and James, and to a visit with his mother, Mrs. Alpha Lucas, in Wilton.

During 1953, Southern Bell Telephone Company constructed 17 new buildings, completed 18 additions, and began work on 12 new buildings and 5 additions.

TWO MILLION IS A LOT OF TREES!

During the past two months my company planted over two million pine tree seedlings which were raised last year in our nursery. These trees have been planted in abandoned fields and poorly stocked woods to help Keep Alabama Green.

If they are protected from fire, these two million trees will grow new wood each year, providing "Trees for Tomorrow" and future income to the people of Alabama.

Pine seedlings will grow almost anywhere on nearly any kind of land. More seedlings are becoming available to the public from State and private nurseries every year.

Ernest Somerville, pastor of the Central Park Presbyterian Church (March 8-12); Bishop C. C. J. Carpenter, known to many people in Montevallo (March 15-19); Bishop Girault Jones of Louisiana and Bishop Charles Clingman, formerly at the Church of the Advent (March 22-26); Bishop George Henry from North Carolina (April 5-9); and last, but warmly welcomed back by his friends in Alabama, Bishop Randolph Claiborne, former Suffragon Bishop of Alabama, now at Atlanta, Ga.

On the evenings of March 14, 15 and 16, a series of discussions on Christian living will be held at the Parrish House of Saint Mary's Episcopal Church, 1910 12th Ave. S., Birmingham, at 7:30 p. m. Leaders especially trained for this work, sent out by the National Council of the Episcopal Church, will conduct these meetings. It is hoped that a number of people from here will attend.

Cub Scouts Meet With Bill Bob Garrett

The Cub Scouts of Den 2, Pack 59, met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Wolf Cub Bill Bob Garrett. On account of the beautiful spring weather, the Cubs met on the back lawn. The meeting was opened with the singing of America, then each Cub repeated his Cub Scout promise. Much to the delight of all Cubs present, Mrs. Garrett reported that she had received an answer from Benny Carl inviting the Cubs of Montevallo to be present on the Western Theatre program on Friday, May 14.

There were only two Cubs placed on the honor roll at this meeting. They were Guy Milford and Bill Bob Garrett. In order to have their name on this roll the cubs are required to wear their uniforms. The Cubs filling this requirement for six consecutive meetings will be awarded a prize. After refreshments were served by the host, the Cubs, accompanied by their den mother, Mrs. Garrett, hiked over to inspect the Cub Scout Hut. There they were dismissed with the Grand Howl.

Cubs present were Robert Eddings, Bob Bearden, Jimmy Eddings, Ernest Blankenship, Guy Milford and Bill Bob Garrett.

Due to the teachers' meeting, no Cub Scout meeting will be held this week but will be held Thursday, March 11, at the home of Bill Bob Garrett.

Calera Civitans Have Ladies' Night

The Calera Civitan Club met Monday evening, Feb. 22. Since this was "Ladies' Night," a nice group of members and their wives came out to enjoy a delicious Mezzetti dinner, which was served by the Calera Garden Club.

When the group had assembled around the table, Mr. George Holcombe, club president, called on Rev. J. F. Goree to offer thanks for the meal. A splendid session of food and fellowship followed, and anyone could tell by the expressions on the faces present that everyone seemed to be having a great time. When all had feasted and the dishes were cleared away, President Holcombe told of the club's interest in the Civitan Oratorical Contest. Miss LeClare Cowart, one of the winners, was present and was introduced to the club.

After telling of future plans for the oratorical contest, Mr. Holcombe called on Mr. Z. S. Cowart, Sr., who asked Rev. L. B. Stewart to introduce the speaker for the evening. The Speaker, Dr. M. E. Lazenby of Montevallo, was given a brief introduction by Rev. Stewart.

Since it was Washington's birthday, Dr. Lazenby gave a fitting summary of George Washington's life and then spoke from some of the outstanding points in the life of Washington. He kept his audience spellbound in dwelling on the things that contribute toward making a good citizen.

Montevallo Senior Class To Present Youthful Comedy As Annual Play

The senior class of Montevallo High School will present "Ever Since Eve" as their annual class play on Friday night, March 5, at Palmer Hall at 8 o'clock.

Their selection this year is a gay comedy of youth in which Susan Blake, a "career girl," maneuvers herself into the position of co-editor of The Penguin, Preston High School paper. The editor, Johnny Clover, and his assistant, Spud Erwin, who believe newspaper business is strictly men's work, encounter complicated difficulties in their efforts to hold their own against the ingenious exploits of Susan. The situation, which threatens them all with bankruptcy and jail sentences, is finally saved through the understanding connivance of Johnny's mother who remembers when she also suffered the inconveniences of adolescence.
